TWO SLAIN AS 13 ARMED CONVICTS ESCAPE

4 Persons Killed as Fire Sweeps S. F. Night Club

GIRL CRUSHED TO DEATH; 9 HURT

Three Others Suffocate in 'Airtight' Room; Torch Starts Blaze

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13. (AP)—Four persons died in fire and panic at a gay nightclub here today after flames from a torch dancer's toe spread to draperies and roared through the place. Nine persons were injured.

A hat check girl was trampled to death as the 50 patrons stampeded from the lone exit from the Shamrock club at 560 Geary street in the hotel district of downtown San Francisco. The other three died of suffocation in the closed second floor room.

The Death List
Of the injured, three were so seriously hurt they were kept at the emergency hospital where all were treated.

The dead are:
Jo Dickinson, hat check girl, San Francisco.

Mrs. Elsie Marler, 32, of Petaluma, Calif., whose husband formerly was part owner of the Shamrock.

Robert Pattison, Berkeley, John Mason, San Francisco.

The fire started suddenly, unexpectedly at the height of gaiety during the torch dance of Betty Blossom, headline performer of the club.

Flames Catch Draperies
As she danced about the darkened, low ceilinged room with a torch in each hand, she kicked one of the torches so that its flames leaped up to the filmy draperies which covered the entire room.

Flames swept quickly through the decorations. Horror swept the crowd.

Screaming, shouting, they dashed for the only exit. Miss Dickinson was in their path. She (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 6)

Urges Clergyman As President

LOS ANGELES, May 13. (AP)—Dr. Francis E. Townsend, old age pension chieftain, suggested to American voters today that they elect a clergyman to the presidency this fall.

"It is high time to abandon the idea that legislation can emanate only from those trained in the law," the gray-haired physician told a meeting of 8000 followers.

"Those who make laws are in many instances unfit to formulate the law of the cloth who are good business men. Why not this fall elect some eminent divine as president of the United States?"

Rail Workers Vote Calif. Strike

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13. (AP)—Several union groups among employees of the Western Pacific, Sacramento Southern and Tidewater Southern railroads have voted "overwhelmingly" in favor of a strike, unless the companies agree to arbitration immediately, union officials announced here today.

No date has been set for the walkout. Demand of the Western Pacific group is for higher pay on the Keddie-Bieber Rocky mountain run, while other road employees are asking for the same wage and hour scales now paid by the Western Pacific.

Hopkins Bans Spying in WPA

WASHINGTON, May 13. (AP)—Announcing a policy of "fair and friendly" relations with WPA workers, Harry L. Hopkins today ordered state administrators to use armed guards to maintain order and not to "spy upon workers."

WASHINGTON, May 13. (AP)—The element of mystery crept in at the El Toro school superintendent today. A search failed to reveal any report of the school being closed.

The same situation existed at the health department. Not only was there no report there of the school being closed, but there was no report of any cases of measles existing at El Toro.

Efforts to further confirm the report through school board members and teachers only added to the mystery. None of them could be reached by telephone and there is no telephone at the school.

In the entire month of May so far, 42 cases of measles have been reported in the county, it was learned at the health department. Eight of these are in Santa Ana. For the entire year so far there have been reports of 508 cases of measles in the county.

County officials are hoping to solve the El Toro measles mystery by tomorrow.

Spotted Kidnapers

GUILTY PLEA PROBABLE

Robinson Awaits Word From Attorney in Kidnaping Trial

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 13. (AP)—Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., was quoted by a department of justice agent today as expressing a willingness to plead guilty to the $50,000 kidnaping of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll provided his attorney, Monte Ross of Nashville, Tenn., would permit him to do so.

O. C. Dewey, in charge of the Louisville office of the department of justice, said Robinson told him that since he already has confessed the kidnaping he might as well plead guilty.

Spends Freely
Ross, retained by the defendant's father, Thomas H. Robinson, Sr., at Nashville, was reported en route to Louisville for the arraignment in federal court which was expected late today.

The life of the Tennessee fugitive, during the many months when he was the object of a nationwide manhunt, was told by E. J. Connelley, chief of the Cincinnati office of the federal bureau of investigation after Robinson had been grilled for several hours.

He "freely admitted" kidnaping Mrs. Stoll, Connelley told reporters, after which, harried by authorities, he spent most of the ransom money to keep ahead of the chase.

"That the will of the whip fugitive wearied of the chase shortly before his capture came in reports from Los Angeles where an unnamed official in the federal building was quoted as saying a man, he later identified as Robinson, came to his office, four days before his capture, and said he wanted to surrender."

BRIDE SLAYER FACES QUICK JUSTICE

Death Penalty May Be Asked; Arraignment Is Held Today

Information formally charging Natividad Valenzuela with the murder of his 17-year-old wife, Jovita, on May 2, will be filed in superior court Friday morning at 10 o'clock. Superior Judge James L. Allen will receive the information.

Valenzuela was arraigned yesterday afternoon, less than four hours after his arrest, and his preliminary hearing, from which he was remanded to superior court, was held this morning at 9 o'clock before Justice of the Peace Kenneth E. Morrison.

Crimes in Court
The man, who has confessed the crime, was visibly shaken as he entered the justice court. When first apprehended by the county sheriff's office he seemed tired and wan, but collected. Today he composed had fled, and he cringed as the machinery of the law which demands his life was set in motion.

Valenzuela was arrested by Deputy Sheriffs Merl Dean and John Ryan only a short distance from the drainage ditch in which he admittedly bludgeoned his wife to death with a car jack, 10 days before. In those 10 days he had fled to Texas and then returned, impelled, he said, to come back.

To Demand Death
Summary justice was promised by county officials. Assistant District Attorney James L. Davis has indicated that he will demand the death penalty for his crime. It was not indicated who would be appointed by Judge Allen to defend Valenzuela.

Information will be filed at the same time against Valenzuela's 22-year-old brother, Nasario, who is charged with aiding and abetting in his escape, when he drove him to Riverside following the murder, to make his escape.

No Loophole
"Every evidence that the crime was premeditated is contained in his confession," Mr. Davis said today. "There is no loophole left for his escape."

The story of the murder of the pretty Mexican girl is one of the most brutal in the annals of Orange county crime. Valenzuela yesterday admitted freely before county officials and newsmen that he had taken his bride of three months to the neglected ditch, far from town, to kill her.

Then he dragged her from the car, according to his confession, reached in the back seat for a car jack, and crushed her skull with repeated blows. He then threw her body into the ditch, told her he was sorry, and fled. They had been married but little more than three months.

With her last breath, he told officers, his dying bride had forgiven him for the crime, and then urged him to "run, before he was caught."

Rioting Breaks Out in Spain

MADRID, May 13. (AP)—Disorders broke out in the eastern province of Teruel today as Santiago Casares completed a new cabinet at the call of President Manuel Azana.

12 RELIGIOUS BUILDINGS BURNED

VALENCIA, Spaine, May 13. (AP)—Twelve churches and religious buildings were destroyed yesterday during anti-clerical outbreaks at the town of Alciria.

Despite fog and falling winds during the first day's run from Lakehurst, N. J., the massive airliner had maintained an average speed of 71 miles an hour for the first half of the flight to its home base at Frankfurt. The craft may reach its port before 3 a. m. tomorrow.

New U. S.-French Trade Pact Told

WASHINGTON, May 13. (AP)—Tariff cuts by the United States and a liberalization of French quotas on American goods are features of the new Franco-American trade treaty, details of which were published today.

The pact was signed May 6 as a further step in the Roosevelt reciprocal trade program. The agreement does not require the consent of the senate.

In the swap, the United States agreed to cut tariffs up to 50 percent on 77 items, including certain wines and brandy, lace and other "luxury" goods. Among 44 products on which France agreed to allow increased or new quotas were fresh apples and pears, leaf tobacco, canned salmon, some makes of automobiles and parts.

Borah Swamped in Ohio Vote as Roosevelt Wins

LANDON GETS SUPPORT IN W. VIRGINIA

9 Vermont Delegates Also Are Pledged to Kansas Governor

By the Associated Press
Senator Borah's militant campaign against the regular Republican organization in Ohio appeared today to have won him only five of the 52 delegates the state will send to Cleveland. He did not contest for 17 in the primary held yesterday.

Supporters of Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas and Col. Frank Knox of Illinois for the presidential nomination were encouraged by the results, but deferred formal comment as did Borah until more returns were tabulated.

Roosevelt Wins Again
President Roosevelt overwhelmed the anti-New Deal Democrat, Col. Henry Breckinridge of New York, for the third time. With over half the Ohio precincts reported, Roosevelt votes numbered almost 235,000 to less than 17,000 for his opponent. Earlier results in Pennsylvania and Maryland were similar.

Robert A. Taft, who had the backing of the Ohio party organization as a "favorite son" against Borah, said the success of delegates pledged to Mr. Frederickson and myself showed that the Republican voters of Ohio are in favor of choosing a candidate and writing a platform uncompromisingly opposed to President Roosevelt and the New Deal.

Landon Takes Lead
In West Virginia, Roosevelt was given 47,816 votes in 534 out of 2347 precincts. No tabulation of those for his only opponent, Joseph A. Courtenash of New Hampshire, had been made.

First returns there gave supporters of Landon the better of it in the Republican primary. Ten delegates favoring his nomination were ahead.

The Landon cause also appeared headed in Vermont, where nine uninstructed delegates were picked. Delaware and North Dakota Democrats, as expected, selected six and eight delegates respectively to advocate a Roosevelt renomination at Philadelphia.

Many Jobs Open
Charles Fallert of the National Re-employment service said he is finding no trouble in filling orders for workers as fast as they come in. Today, he said, he has a request for 70 beet thinners to work in the vicinity of Lancaster. He reported that the workers are not strongly inclined to take these jobs, preferring to wait until the citrus season gets into full swing here.

Mr. Fallert said, however, he believed he would be able to fill the order by the end of today.

Fletcher Charges Mail Mutilation

WASHINGTON, May 13. (AP)—Chairman Henry P. Fletcher of the Republican national committee charged today in an open letter to Postmaster General Farley that Republican campaign matter had been "mutilated" while in the mails.

Fletcher asked Farley to "give the necessary orders to end such tactics."

FARLEY TERMS CHARGE 'ASININE'
MINNEAPOLIS, May 13. (AP)—Postmaster General James Farley termed "asinine" today the charge of Henry P. Fletcher of the Republican national campaign committee, that Republican campaign matter had been "mutilated" while in the mails.

WASHINGTON, May 13. (AP)—Representative Maverick (D., Tex.) today called upon all good men and true to desert the customs of the dead past and keep their hats on in elevators.

"Hat lifting," he said, "is a survival of the vainest and most corrupt age in history—when knighthood was in flower—when means when a bunch of bandits wearing steel vests went around bullying decent people."

Pounding a large history book and getting red in the face, the Texan said he has been doing research in preparation for his speech at the organization meeting Saturday of the Aptho-Ast association for the Prevention of Taking Off Hats in Elevators.

This association is being formed by a pioneer band of newspapermen and legislators.

"The custom of raising the hat," Maverick said, "came down from the time when the knight lifted the visor of his helmet when he rode by the ladies. The gesture only satisfied his vanity for he was just letting her know who he was, not paying her any respect."

"Other men took up the custom as soon as the times grew tame enough to bare your head without getting hit with something," Maverick continued. "And then came elevators. They were sort of small and naturally threw men into the immediate presence of women. Somebody got self-conscious, took off his hat and that's how it started."

The congressman said he hopes 10,000,000 men will join the Aptho.

Takes 11,000 Volts —And Survives!

A. E. Burnell shook hands with death yesterday, and came out of it shaken but smiling with relief.

Mr. Burnell, a foreman of a state highway tree maintenance crew, received a jolt through his body of more electricity than is shot into a condemned man in the electric chair, when he threw a tape containing a copper wire across a high tension wire.

There was a blinding flash, a report, and he was thrown stunned to the ground, by the force of 11,000 volts coursing through him.

"How does it happen I'm alive?" the dazed man asked as his hands were freed from the tape.

His life had been saved by a safety device of the electric company, by which the current in a high tension wire is automatically shut off when the current meets certain kinds of resistance. Other factors contributed to his miraculous escape in his brush with the grim reaper.

The size of the copper wire in the tape, the position of his feet, the place he was standing, his closeness to other conductors, all contributed, an official of the local company said today. When the shock was felt the current automatically stopped while his hands were freed from the tape by members of his crew.

The accident occurred near San Juan Capistrano as Mr. Burnell was preparing to line a cable between the trunks of an old tree. In throwing the tape between the crotch the hidden copper strand hit the wires, which were not visible from the ground.

"There was a flash and shock, and that's all I remember of it," he commented later. "I could hear myself saying 'how does it happen I'm alive?'"

WPA TO DROP 100 FRIDAY
All Workers Expected to Find Farm Jobs, Says Mulherron

More than 100 workers must be dropped from the Works Progress administration lists here by Friday.

Dan Mulherron, WPA director, made this announcement today, but said that he expected all the men to find farm work. About 50 men already have been assured of jobs this week, he said.

A fair balance between labor supply and demand appeared to exist in Orange county today. Mr. Mulherron said that so far this season he has not had to drop anyone from the list because farm work has absorbed the labor supply as fast as reductions have been ordered in the WPA lists by the federal government.

A gradual reduction has been ordered throughout the county. The Orange county quota at present is 2629, but the list is somewhat below that figure, being 2588, Mr. Mulherron said. By Friday the list must be down to 2486, which means a reduction of 102, said Mr. Mulherron.

Charles Fallert of the National Re-employment service said he is finding no trouble in filling orders for workers as fast as they come in. Today, he said, he has a request for 70 beet thinners to work in the vicinity of Lancaster. GUARD KILLED BY FLEEING PRISONERS

Convict Shot Down in Oklahoma Break; 6 Rioters Recaptured

McALESTER, Okla., May 13. (AP)—A prison brickyard foreman was slain, one convict was killed and eight convicts and one guard were wounded as 13 desperate convicts made a bloody break from McAlester penitentiary today.

Six of the convicts were recaptured. The desperadoes seized A. D. Powell, prison brickyard foreman, forced him into another guard's auto, shot him in the head, and dumped him out of a street nearly a mile from the prison. The downtown business district was shut down as they fled. One convict, Robert Dunningham, was killed. The others were in the prison hospital.

Guard slaying, also, was seized and still was unaccounted for.

Guards shot down a convict identified tentatively as Robert Dunningham, and recaptured six of the others as they attempted to commandeer a car on a highway near the prison yard.

The remaining six desperadoes, riding in a car belonging to Bob Gossett, a guard, sped northwest out of McAlester toward Scipio, Okla.

Posses in Pursuit
Gossett, shot down as the prisoners dashed from the prison, was taken to a McAlester hospital with four bullet wounds in his body. His condition was critical.

Nine separate posses, including nearly 30 armed guards, were in pursuit. Bloodhounds accompanied them.

Col. Charles Daley, state crime bureau chief, sent nine operatives from Oklahoma City.

Take Guards' Guns
Gov. E. W. Marland promised "all available forces" would be used in tracking down the killers.

First reports, said Warden Roy Kenny, indicated the prisoners drew knives on foremen working inside the plant, and, using them as shields, forced guards on the walls to throw down their guns.

"The prisoners took the guns and opened fire," the warden added. "They then took a guard's car and fled. Later they seized a prison truck."

Kenny said names of the missing prisoners were not available immediately.

Kenny said Deputy Warden Jess Dunn rounded up seven convicts near the brick plant and herded them into the main prison.

He said the "most desperate" prisoners customarily were assigned to the brick plant which provides the most arduous work in the prison.

Farm Debt Bill Wins a Victory

WASHINGTON, May 13. (AP)—Backers of the Frazier-Lemke farm debt refinancing bill claimed another victory in the house today as the controverted $5,000,000 measure reached the amendment stage and a substitute "federal reserve system" for agriculture was held out of order.

Chairman Jones (D., Tex.), of the agriculture committee, leading the fight against the Frazier-Lemke measure, sought to substitute a plan under which federal land banks would issue notes as the federal reserve banks now do.

LAGUNA PLANNING RECREATION CENTER

DEVELOPMENT
CHAMBER

Plans which would create one of the most amazing beach recreation centers in the world, supported by a tax on property, were disclosed at a meeting of the board of directors of the Laguna Beach chamber of commerce there last night.

Playgrounds at several points along the Laguna coastline, elaborate picnic grounds, a huge wading pool, tennis courts, a swimming pool, games of all sorts for children, a clubhouse and civic recreation center and vacation schools would all be possible under a plan advanced by a committee including chamber of commerce and high school Parent-Teacher association members.

Urges Commission
Creation of a city recreation commission and employment of a full-time instructor, recommended by the special group of 21 residents who have been investigating the plan. The report was approved by the chamber directors last night. The proposition will be presented to the city council and to other Laguna civic organizations for approval, it was decided.

The report recommends that the proposed commission include a member of the city council, a school trustee, member of the planning and zoning commission, the superintendent of schools and five other residents. Estimates presented showed that an annual assessment of 15 cents on each $100 of assessed valuation would provide a budget of $4500 to purchase equipment and pay the salary of a full-time director.

Improvements Listed
Included in possibilities for the beach are a boat for swimmers; supervised games for children; installation of chess, checkers, dominoes and materials for handwork; tables and umbrellas; develop suitable spots for roque, horseshoe pitching and volleyball; and construct a wading pool at tide water level.

At Heister Point, playgrounds for boys and girls; neighborhood playgrounds at head of Mermaid street and at two or three other population centers; rent and maintain tennis courts on Gleneyre, one-half block north of Legion street, to be operated on self-supporting basis; eventually build other tennis courts, swimming pool, and clubhouse as well as civic recreation center; establish picnic grounds for free use of local people and visitors in Laguna canyon; carry on vacation schools for groups of all ages to include arts and crafts, wood and metal work, pottery, weaving, supervised games, and kindred activities.

APPROVE OLIVE
CIVIC CENTER

A new recreation hall and civic center was one step nearer for residents of Laguna Beach following action by the Olive Improvement Association last night approving tentative plans for the hall and requesting the district school board to prepare them for presentation to PWA officials.

Residents voted an $8000 bond issue last month for the construction of the hall, which would cost about $15,000 if PWA aid is obtained.

The structure, as outlined at the meeting, would be of reinforced concrete, 122 x 82 feet in size, and would include a banquet room seating 350, a kitchen in the basement, and an auditorium on the ground floor which would seat about 650 persons. The auditorium could be converted into a basketball court and bleachers would be provided for 225 persons. It was planned. Also included in the preliminary plan were rest rooms, library rooms and a meeting room for 4-H clubs and Boy Scouts.

Members of the association also discussed a proposed change in name to the Olive chamber of commerce, but the matter was laid over until the next meeting.

Supper was served in the Parochial school hall by boys and girls of the 4-H club. Guests were Mrs. Crane, assistant farm advisor and Miss Frances Liles, Sam Nau, Tustin, talked on his recent trip through Japan, China and the tropics.

Forty-six students representing five states will be graduated in May by Ottawa (Kas.) university.

Jots License Number in Sand

The tracing of the license number of an asserted hit-and-run driver's car in the sands along the Coast highway last night, following a traffic accident near the Bolsa Chica Gun club, resulted in the arrest at 1 a. m. today of Carl H. Merriman, 34, of 702 East Third street, Santa Ana. Merriman, who was arrested by Huntington Beach police a short time after the accident, was booked at the county jail on charges of drunk driving.

In investigating the case, Deputy Sheriff G. F. McKelvey learned that a car driven by E. F. Moore, Long Beach, while proceeding north on the Coast highway, had collided with a car assertedly driven by Merriman. Mr. Moore told Deputy McKelvey that the car had cut across from the wrong side of the highway, crashed into his car, turning it over. As he crawled from beneath the wreckage he saw the other car going slowly toward Huntington Beach, and ran in pursuit. He called to the driver, he said, who refused to stop.

Mr. Moore did not have a pencil with him at the time, but copied the license number of the car in the sand on the side of the road. The sheriff's office was called to investigate the case, and the Huntington Beach police department was informed of the accident, later finding the car and the driver.

Deputy District Attorney James L. Davis today was being urged to enter the August congressional primaries following presentation of a petition signed by officials of all Orange county Townsend clubs requesting that he enter the race.

The petition was presented Tuesday afternoon by Alec P. Nelson on behalf of county Townsendites. "I am highly gratified at this expression of esteem and confidence, and I appreciate their invitation to represent the Townsend faction in the forthcoming campaign," said Mr. Davis. "I believe, however, I will reserve my decision for a few days while investigating the matter further."

Presidents and officials of virtually every one of the county's 45 pension clubs signed the petition. When presenting the request, Mr. Nelson said, "I know how Mr. Davis stands on the Townsend plan and I think I know how the present representative stands."

Mr. Nelson said the petition represents an excellent cross section of feeling of Townsend people of the county and advanced the feeling personally sure the same feeling exists in San Bernardino and Riverside counties.

MARGETT GETS HIGHER POST

LOS ANGELES, May 13. (AP)—Dr. Francis E. Townsend concentrated today on uniting the ranks of old age pension supporters in California for coming elections.

"There is always the hope that some independent candidate may spring up who would be worthy of the Townsend vote," the elderly Long Beach physician said, but he denied he is considering starting a third party.

While putting aside consideration for the moment of changes in the national scope of his organization, Dr. Townsend re-arranged the California pension leadership.

Edward J. Margett, former area manager for Northern California, stationed at San Francisco, was elevated to area manager for the entire state, thereby reducing E. E. Gordon, former Southern California manager, to a subordinate position.

Margett said Gordon and his staff would be placed on a fixed salary, ending the commission from gross receipts they had received in the past.

FISH PRESERVE
GROUP NAMED

Appointment of a committee to investigate possibility of re-establishment of the Orange county fishing preserve featured a meeting of the fish and game committee of the Orange County Coast association at Newport-Balboa last night.

Leslie Kimmel, Laguna Beach, Ray Overacker, Huntington Beach, Charles Crawford and Darrel King, Newport, and Assemblyman James E. Utt were named to seek a new fishing preserve along the county coastline. The fourth district court of appeals recently declared unconstitutional a law creating a preserve in the county.

Old Road Named
'Public Highway'

On Orange county road that has been a public thoroughfare since 1887 today was dignified with the title of "public highway" by order of the board of supervisors.

San Juan avenue, the road around Dana Point strand on the beach, which has been in public use ever since the baby Orange county was severed from Los Angeles county, and for two years preceding that, was named a public highway yesterday afternoon.

It has been in public use ever since then, Supervisor N. E. West said, but for some reason or other nothing ever was done about it. Today it looks a little as though maintenance would be necessary, and so the county gave the road a title.

Chairman John C. Mitchell opposed the move on the part of the board, evidently on grounds of economy. He was over-ruled by a 4 to 1 vote.

KRAEMER IS BOARD FINDS
'LOST' FUND
OF $7000

William A. Kraemer, 24, Placentia, was booked at the county jail at 2 a. m. today on a technical charge of suspicion of manslaughter, following the shooting at his home Monday night which resulted in the death of 16-year-old Francisco Gomez, Placentia.

Mr. Kraemer fired three shots at a fleeing person whom his wife had seen peeping into a window of the bathroom where she was undressing.

District Attorney W. F. Menton said today the arrest was made at his request following reports that Placentia Mexicans had been in an ugly mood and had threatened Mr. Kraemer. It was believed Mr. Kraemer's life was endangered, he said, and consequently he was taken to the county jail in order to protect him from possible assault.

Yesterday the head youth's brother, protected at Chief of Police Gus Barnes of Placentia concerning the case. He expressed the opinion the boy had been shot, loaded into a car, and taken to the spot where his body was found yesterday morning.

He based his belief on the assumption that a person wounded fatally would be unable to run three blocks before collapsing. Police officials and Coroner Earl Abbey, however, expressed the opinion that such an occurrence is not impossible.

Ernest Zabel, director of the sheriff's bureau of identification, yesterday compared bullets from Mr. Kraemer's gun with that found in Gomez' body, and reported they were fired from the same gun. An inquest into the shooting was to be held at 3 p. m. today at the McAulay and Suters mortuary in Fullerton.

The end was in sight today in the $1,181,000 stockholder's liability suit of the Security First National bank of Los Angeles against Charles C. Chapman, wealthy Fullerton man.

Presiding Judge G. K. Scovel of the superior court yesterday afternoon sustained a demurrer to the complaint instituted by the defendant, and allowed 20 days in which to file an amended complaint. The case has been dragging through the courts for several years.

The bank had sued Mr. Chapman, as principal stockholder in the Santa Ysabel Land company, under the stockholder's liability law. The land company was principal holder of bonds of the defunct Alexandria hotel, in Los Angeles.

Mr. Chapman, in his demurrer, contended that when the bank had failed to establish worth of the property, and hence had failed to establish the liability of the stockholder company, the Santa Ysabel land concern. Such being the case, he argued, the bank had failed to establish any liability on his part as principal stockholder.

Attorneys for the bank had not indicated today what its next step in the matter would be. It was felt that the decision was almost certain to mean the early end of the involved and expensive case.

COUNTY GIVEN
DEED TO ROAD

Orange county was richer today by the possession of one county road, four miles in length, and 50 years old.

The road bisects the large Moulton ranch, in the distance necessary to traverse the route to the beach city, Supervisor N. E. West told the board of supervisors yesterday.

A deed to the road, which has been in use for the full 50 years, was accepted yesterday afternoon by the board from the Moulton officials.

The county will spend in the near future $14,000 in realignment, surfacing and grading of the road, as its contribution to a federal "farm-to-market" road project for that purpose. Total cost of the federal project will be $40,000.

Announce Poppy
Sale Captains

Captains for the American Legion auxiliary's poppy day sale were announced today by Mrs. R. M. McCalla, Poppy day chairman for the Santa Ana unit. A force of 30 volunteer workers, 15 of them junior auxiliary girls, will distribute the memorial flowers May 23, she said.

Heading the team will be Mesdames Fannie Reeves, Earl Lepper, Roy Roepke and Eugene Robinson. All money collected for the poppies will be sent to the disabled veterans who made them.

"The auxiliary is very grateful to those volunteering to help in the poppy sale," Mrs. McCalla said. "We hope that the public will recognize their unselfish service and respond to their appeal in the same spirit."

LUMBER STOLEN FROM TRUCK

Orange county officers were asked yesterday to investigate the theft this week-end of approximately $15 worth of lumber stolen from a truck parked in a warehouse in Irvine. The lumber belonged to Dr. G. Butler, 610 South Main street, Santa Ana, and was intended for use in the construction of a cabin in Trabuco canyon.

Last Saturday, Dr. Butler arranged with Raymond Alvarado, Costa Mesa, to haul the lumber from a Costa Mesa lumber yard. Somewhere along the route Alvarado had a few drinks, and at a point near Irvine he was arrested by California Highway Patrolman Harry Wild on a charge of drunk driving. The truck with its load of lumber was left in Irvine and the driver was taken to jail.

A. J. Hory of Harlingen, Tex., harvested 25 tons of cabbage from two acres of ground.

ZIONCHECK
HECK AGAIN

SAN JUAN, P. R., May 13. (AP)—The national guard was mobilized in San Juan, and all public and private schools were closed today by the department of education to calm student independence uprisings.

The administration's move followed accidental entanglement of Rep. Marion Zioncheck, American congressman, with the student "freedom" demonstrations.

Zioncheck, here on a honeymoon, attained island-wide notoriety Monday by a series of automobile mishaps. Last night he found himself in the center of a riot of high school children who were demonstrating in favor of the establishment of Puerto Rico as an independent nation, outside the jurisdiction of the United States.

Neither the congressman's driving nor the independence movement had any relationship with the other, but before last night's demonstration that ended Zioncheck asked that the United States continue to come to the circulation department. Remarks from a few of them are as follows: "I congratulate The Journal on having such an efficient delivery boy."

writes Mrs. C. W. Hannah of Clarence Kennedy, route 16. "Bill Barry, route 27, has a happy smile and always endeavors to please," is the commendation sent in by the "Scudder family." Orma R. Ross writes of Ben Steffins, route 33, "I sincerely wish to express my appreciation of his thoughtfulness and his untiring efforts to please your customers on his route."

A few of the other letters that have been received are from Kathryn Burkholder for Wilmer Swafford, route 17; Sara Heibert for Donovan Rowe, route 17; Mr. and Mrs. Hanner for Leo Mader, route 30; Mrs. Manger and Mrs. P. J. Yalland for Ben Steffins, route 33; W. L. Tubbs for Bob Davy, route 39, and F. B. Nixon for Raymond Ross, route 41.

Past Commanders A. H. Hall and F. P. Rowe were chief cooks for the dinner, assisted by M. C. Cooper, Forrest Gay, Charles Lindquist, Charles Cozad, Will Cozad, Arthur Hammond, U. S. Glaze and William Merrill. Mrs. Hazel Hall and Mrs. Louella Randel, auxiliary members, decorated the tables with sweet peas.

A delegation of 20 will represent the local organization at encampment Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Hanigan C. Moberly, recruiting chairman, will report a membership increase of 33, with seven more to be mustered in. Frank P. Rowe will on the ballot Wednesday for the position of department inspector.

Anna S. Rohrs
Passes Away

Santa Ana lost another of its pioneer residents yesterday when death took Mrs. Anna S. Rohrs, who has resided here since 1881. The 87-year-old woman died at her home, 1510 Spurgeon street.

Her husband, Fred Rohrs, and five children survive. They are: Mrs. Minnie Meier, Henry Rohrs Jr., of F. H. John and George Rohrs, all of Santa Ana. Funeral services are to be conducted by the Rev. G. G. Schmidt at 2 p. m. Friday in the First Evangelical church, Main and Tenth streets. Burial will follow in Fairhaven cemetery.

H. B. Man Nabbed
As Drunk Driver

Joe Grimm, 40, Huntington Beach, was booked at the county jail at 5:30 p. m. yesterday on charges of drunk driving following an accident at Huntington Beach boulevard and Smelter road. According to a report filed by California Highway Patrolman Lloyd Geover, Grimm's car left the highway near the intersection and crashed into a telephone pole. He sustained minor injuries.

In the crop year of 1934-35 California produced 34,215 tons of English walnuts.

3 BATTLING FOR CONTEST LEAD

Raymond Ross, route 41, Harold Herren, route 1-a, and Leo Mader, route 30, are battling today for the lead in The Journal carrier popularity contest. Standing last night was as follows: Raymond, 77,400 votes; Harold, 77,350 votes; Leo, 72,450 votes.

From all over the county subscribers are rallying to the support of their carriers and swinging the votes by sending letters, paid-in-advance subscriptions, etc.

Subscribers are reminded that in order to take advantage of the savings offered to those who pay their subscriptions in advance for a period of three months or longer, they must make their advance payments on or before next Saturday.

Votes are credited to carriers for new subscribers, letters of commendation, votes clipped from the paper each Saturday during the contest, for payments in advance of three months or more, for magazine orders (new or renewal) and for perfect service during the period of the contest.

Letters of commendation continue to come to the circulation department. Remarks from a few of them are as follows: "I congratulate The Journal on having such an efficient delivery boy."

writes Mrs. C. W. Hannah of Clarence Kennedy, route 16. "Bill Barry, route 27, has a happy smile and always endeavors to please," is the commendation sent in by the "Scudder family." Orma R. Anaheim Woman
Awarded Damages

Superior Judge H. G. Ames today handed down a judgment awarding Mrs. G. W. Terrill, Anaheim, damages amounting to $1098.50 for injuries sustained in an automobile accident in Buena Park last January. Dr. H. M. Counter, Buena Park physician, was defendant.

Mrs. Terrill had sued the doctor for $25,000, and for $185 special damages. Judge Ames made a trip over the scene of the accident yesterday to fix details of the case in his mind before handing down his decision.

S. F. FIRE

was knocked down and trampled to death by the fleeing crowd. Mrs. Marler, one of the victims, escaped on the second floor. Others dived into dressing rooms or the ice box.

"Criminal" Says Chief
The flames were quickly smothered without spreading to other parts of the two-story building. Firemen at first thought everyone escaped. They were spurred to action by the screams of escaped captives that others were still in the club.

"This is criminal," said Charles Dulles, captain of police inspectors after inspecting the place. "There was no air in the place."

"There was only one exit and entrance at the foot of a steep stairway with an abrupt right angle turn."

"All the windows were boarded up."

Wide Probe Promised
"I am going through every night club in San Francisco to see if such conditions prevail elsewhere."

Mrs. Marler, one of the victims and wife of Bob Forrest Marler who owns the Club Redwood near Petaluma had come to San Francisco to visit old friends at the Shamrock and "for a good time."

There were several versions of how the place was turned into wild disorder when the flames broke out. Henry Buckman, manager, told police that as Miss Blossom swirled with the blazing torches, a patron grabbed at one of them, apparently to light his cigarette.

May Be Prosecuted
Miss Blossom raised her arm to avoid him and the torch touched flimsy decorations and the low paper mache ceiling. Within a moment the entire room was ablaze.

Fire Chief Charles Brennan placed the loss at $10,000.

Fire Marshal Frank Kelly declared it was against the law to carry flaming torches and that persons responsible might be prosecuted for criminal negligence.

officiated at the Huntington Beach-Anaheim night game in Anaheim last night.

Mrs. Ella Hayden, Orange, was called to the Glendale hospital Tuesday by the serious illness of her brother, C. S. Huddleston, Pasadena.

Walter Wentz of Garden Grove, president of the National Night Ball league, served as master of ceremonies for Anaheim's opening home game with Huntington Beach last night.

Jack Green, student at the University of California at Berkeley, arrived in Orange yesterday to attend the commencement exercises of nurses at the Orange county hospital. His sister, Miss Dora Green, was in the graduating class.

Nation-wide publicity for Santa Ana has been obtained by the local 20-30 club in the special April issue of the organization's national magazine, the Twenty-Third.

A full page layout inside the cover shows eight typical Orange county scenes—the beaches, Newport harbor, San Juan Capistrano mission, oil wells, oranges and avocados.

A description tells that "Santa Ana is the capital of the valencia orange empire of Southern California." It explains that Santa Ana is the trading center of an area populated by 150,000 people. The influx of well known people who are making their homes along the coast in Santa Ana.

The agricultural and industrial wealth of the county—$30,000,000 annually from citrus products and $40,000,000 more from other crops and oil, is listed.

The display was made possible by the cooperation of the First National Bank in Santa Ana, the Commercial National Bank, the Security First National Bank of Los Angeles, Bank of America, Orange County Title Company, Security Title and Insurance Com-

Brick Dust

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling County Editor
By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

FIREMEN in Midway City gave a dinner the other evening honoring Al Van Steenberg, a member of the firefighters' association, and his bride.

The men planned the dinner. Also the entertainment—in fact, the entire evening was their own idea.

We heard the wife of one fireman giggling over the plans. She said that they worked so hard getting ready for the affair that they almost forgot to invite Al and his bride.

But it was a fine party, from what we heard, and everyone was invited and had a good time.

By what can best be termed a queer quirk of municipal legislation, three veteran members of the Laguna Beach city council will not get paid for attending meetings while two newcomers, Charles Jester and Randolph Bainbridge, will draw down $20 per month for counciling.

Pretty good, huh?

Voters in Laguna approved a measure which called for payment of council members. But the law, we're informed, says that compensation of an elected official cannot be increased during his term in office.

Therefore Mayor L. F. Mallow, H. G. Heisler and Thomas Cummings, council members, cannot be paid until after they're elected again.

If that's right, perhaps there'll be explosions in several county communities where pay for councilmen was approved.

Let's see—when was Hospital day? Or was it Hospital week?

Anyhow, it reminded me that someone said Jim Tuffrey has been sick. Jim grows oranges out in Placentia, but apparently does not drink enough orange juice.

Anyhow, I hope he's coming along fine. He'd better be in good shape for the supervisory campaign, in which he's entered.

Also, someone says that Jack Summers, Newport policeman, is getting around again. Jack played football with an automobile when he was crossing the highway at the beach and took the count, ending up with busted bones.

But I'm glad to hear that he's okay now.

Carl Fisher, back shopper on The Journal staff, is getting soured on this business of trying to find a young crow to keep for a pet.

We asked, through this column, if anyone knew where crows were nesting, so we could maybe pick up a fledgling—that's not right—a young crow. Nope, no one knew.

So finally Carl decided, in order to have birds of some sort around the old homestead, that he'd hang several bottles outside the kitchen window, fill the bottles with honey and attract hummingbirds.

The idea worked fine, only there weren't any hummingbirds. Nary a one.

But the ants, he reports, liked that honey. They called regularly until the bottles were empty. Then, knowing that Carl must've hidden the rest of it in the house somewhere, they summoned all hands and started a systematic search of the Fisher household.

Whether or not they found the honey we didn't know, but they found plenty of other edibles, because they spent much time in the kitchen cupboard, until forcibly ejected.

So now Carl's in the doghouse and doesn't think much of crows or hummingbirds.

Or ants.

COUNTY folks, if they'll just relax and let a few beach people do the work, are in line for an exciting and interesting summer.

If a person plans to take in all the wonderful events planned by our county communities, however, he'll have to be a cross between a traveling salesman and a race driver. There's going to be too much doing!

The season really starts with a bang with Newport's grand harbor celebration May 23-24—just a couple of weeks away. From then on it's fireworks!

Huntington Beach will start celebrating on Memorial Day. Parades, programs. The following day, Sunday the 31st, swimming events and all sorts of excitement.

Then Newporters will come into the picture again with all sorts of water events—races and such. And a huge Legion convention. And then Laguna Beach, with the Festival of Arts, which is a wonderful affair and will attract thousands. And then the Tournament of Lights, with dozens of smaller celebrations, plus the annual Fourth of July celebration. Boat races. Fishing derbies, such as are now being staged at Newport. All the excitement anyone could wish.

Orange county is going to be a busy place, starting in two weeks!

SMELTZER WILDCAT WELL PRODUCTION TEST IS EXPECTED

SET PIPE AT 5595 FEET REPORT

Oil Men Watching First Well Between Midway City and Beach

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—With eyes of the oil world focused on West America's wildest drilling project at Smeltzer road and Huntington Beach boulevard near here, developments in the well are being watched closely, as the hole has been drilled to a depth of nearly one and one-half miles and a production test is expected soon.

Production in the wildest well would call for a huge oil boom in this district, oil men report, as thousands of acres have been leased surrounding the test project.

The company cemented casing in the Morton well yesterday, and after letting it stand for a few days will drill out and make a production test.

Bottom of hole is reported to be at 7700 feet. Field scouts, who have been watching the job throughout, declare that bottom of hole is 7400 feet and that the casing is set at that depth, others claim that bottom of the hole is at 7400 feet but that the casing was set at 5595 feet.

If production is secured in this expensive venture another oil field will have been discovered in Southern California. The Hillman-Long organization of Los Angeles leased 2000 acres in the Smeltzer and Midway City areas and turned a block of it to Mr. Morton for the test.

Watch New Well

Oil men are also watching the Frank Berry well now being drilled at a depth of 1800 feet on a line lease belonging to Fred Pope and W. J. Williams. The well is located in the flats not far from the Twentieth Century well, near Five Points.

High school trustees here are negotiating for drilling of a well on five acres of school property, and the lease will be awarded to the highest bidder, and to the company which can post a $20,000 bond to guarantee start of drilling within 60 days.

The Midway Petroleum company drilled a well on the school grounds in the days of early production in this field and the school received many thousands of dollars in revenue from the well.

Wahlberg to Talk At Grange Meet

MIDWAY CITY.—"Soil Conservation" will be the topic of a talk by Farm Advisor Harold Wahlberg at a meeting of the Wintersburg Grange in the Woman's clubhouse here at 7:30 p. m. Friday.

The meeting is open to the public from 7:30 to 8 o'clock, it was announced. After that hour a closed meeting will be held, with all Grange members of the county urged to attend.

Church Circle Has Election

ORANGE.—The Princess Long circle of the Christian church elected officers for the coming year at a meeting in the church parlors Monday evening. Miss Marie Evans was elected president; Miss Patricia Butler, vice president; Miss Vivian Hahn, secretary, and Miss Mary Moore, treasurer.

Women of the church interested in missions were guests, and about 50 were present. Mrs. Frank Stipp, Brea, was guest speaker. Mary Esther was in charge of devotions, and Miss Phyllis Kogler sang. Mrs. L. F. Finley and daughter, Mrs. Leeson Pomeroy, accompanied by Mrs. Neleta Wolfe, sang a duet.

Laguna Players Drama Slated

LAGUNA BEACH.—"The Pet Asp," an original three-act mystery comedy-drama, written by Jean Marlow, Laguna Beach and Los Angeles, went into rehearsal last night at the Little Art Theater on Thalia street, under direction of Frank Rasmussen, well-known Southland dramatic director.

Included in the cast are R. Jacques Welch, Lea Rae McPherson, George Ritchey, Margo Sangster, Goddard and others. It is expected to have the production ready for presentation within three weeks, it was announced by the author of the play, who is in charge of the production.

Farm Center Meetings

THURSDAY

Football Farm center, 6:30 p. m. in Villa Park school hall; to open with supper; entertainment: Ed Bula and Elsie and Frieda Hink in vocal, instrumental and dance numbers. Speaker: F. W. Merrill, Los Angeles, to discuss farm marketing problems. William Charles Armstrong, president.

Garden Grove Farm Center, 7:30 p. m. in Woman's clubhouse. Speaker: Col. S. H. Finley on "Metropolitan Water." Special entertainment and refreshments. H. Clay Kellogg, president.

Pirate Prepares for Pageant

Many pretty pirates are preparing to take part in formal opening of Orange county's $2,000,000 pleasure harbor at Newport-Balboa May 23 and 24. Miss Ruth White, above, in official pirate uniform for the occasion, will be among hundreds of girls taking part in the celebration.

'CHURCH' DAY 'EGGS' SUBJECT PLANS TOLD AT TUSTIN

SILVER ACRES.—"Church" day, with a pot-luck dinner served at noon by the Methodist church, will be held Friday at the Community church when the members will gather to plant a lawn and flowers and otherwise beautify the grounds about their church building.

The Rev. J. R. Thompson, pastor of the Methodist church, Wintersburg, will speak at the monthly missionary meeting of the Community church tonight. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Jungkeit entertained at a family dinner party recently honoring Mrs. Jungkeit's mother, Mrs. C. W. Buck, Santa Ana. Present were E. W. Buck, Clifford Buck, Mrs. Ben O. Dye, Youell, Tommy Dean, LeEita, David and Marvin Dye, LeEita, and Mrs. Jungkeit's father, C. W. Buck.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Stewart and son, Milton, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Helmeick, Garden Grove, recently.

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Mrs. May Elliott was elected president of the Happy Husters class of the Christian church at a pot-luck dinner held at the church last night. James McManus was named vice president and Mrs. Elizabeth Andrews was returned as secretary-treasurer. Sixty attended the function.

Outgoing officers, Mrs. Mell Scott, president, and Mrs. Andrews, were presented with bouquets.

TALK ON CHINA FORUM PLAN

FULLERTON.—"The Wilds of Western China" will be presented at the Charles L. Ruby public forum this evening in the music hall of the Fullerton Union High school by Arthur C. Terrill, who taught mining engineering in China three years. The lecture will be illustrated with an exceptional collection of colored stereoscopic slides, it was announced.

A wide variety of made-to-scale models of transportation units and other equipment will be displayed. The visualizing aid of models toward educating the public in principles of solving problems has worked so well in China, Terrill says, that he advocates trying this method in relation to Orange county's flood control and water conservation problems.

The forum is free to the public, and the program starts at 7:30 o'clock.

Firemen Fete Member at M. C.

MIDWAY CITY.—Members of the firemen's association held their first social affair in the recreation room of the new fire hall Monday night when they entertained at dinner in honor of one of their members, Alvin Van Steenberg and his bride, the former Salletta Tayse.

The close of dinner Chief Harold Robertson, on behalf of members of the association, gave Mr. and Mrs. Van Steenberg a wedding gift. Cards and games followed. Mrs. N. A. Nelson and S. A. Miller won high score prizes at bridge and Dr. R. I. Johnson received the consolation.

The party included Mr. and Mrs. Harold Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sues, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Heath, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hazard, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Beaver, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lemm, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Davies, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Houlihan, Dr. and Mrs. Johnson, Henry Cook, Mrs. Anne Van Steenberg and Clayton Van Steenberg.

Midway Relief Corps Meets

MIDWAY CITY.—William A. Smalley Woman's Relief corps members held their regular meeting Monday evening in the Woman's clubhouse, with Mrs. Helen Trettn, Westminster, received as a new member.

Mrs. Everette Hylton, Westminster, was appointed assistant conducer, Mrs. Gladys Carson, president, will attend the state convention to be held in Santa Barbara, it was decided. Following the business meeting a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served.

Mrs. Harry Kingsbury reviewed the autobiography of Melba at a meeting of the Book club Monday in the home of Mrs. J. A. Houlihan. Present were Mrs. J. L. Esser, Mrs. W. E. Moore, Mrs. W. C. Wilson, Mrs. Viola Henderson, Mrs. Marcus Jungjohann and Mrs. C. A. Whitte.

Orange P-T. A. Boards Honored

ORANGE.—Mrs. August Pestolesi, new president of the West Orange P-T. A., entertained members of the old and new executive boards and their husbands Monday night at her home, 420 South Bush street. Mrs. Victor Hupp, outgoing president, and Mrs. and Mrs. Oscar Milbrat received gifts. Mr. Milbrat served as vice president during the past year.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. William Dyer, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gorton, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Hupp, Mrs. Lotta Brandon, Mrs. Herbert Simon, Mrs. Finley Roy, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Coleman, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Vite, Mr. and Mrs. Royal Haglar, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Milbrat, Mr. and Mrs. E. Conservation to Be Walton Theme

FULLERTON.—Moving pictures and special music will help the Fullerton chapter, Izaak Walton League of America, add education to entertainment at its May meeting in Hillcrest cabin tonight. President John C. Gregory said today in announcing a program devoted to citizenship responsibility involved in preventing forest fires.

Besides the standing invitation to Waltonians from everywhere, Mr. Gregory emphasized a non-obligation welcome to the general public. He also expects Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion, West Coast Mineral society

Tustin P-T. A. to Seat Officers

TUSTIN.—Installation of officers will feature a meeting of the Tustin elementary Parent-Teacher association slated for 2:30 p. m. tomorrow in the kindergarten room of the school, it has been announced.

and other groups interested particularly in conservation and nature study to send representatives. The meeting will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

VALENCIA SEASON OPENED IN SAN JUAN DISTRICT

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO.—Eight o'clock yesterday morning saw the start of the 1936 orange packing season in this district when, promptly at 8 o'clock, Maurice Isch, pressed a button which started newly installed equipment of American Fruit Grocers "baby plant" into operation.

Nineteen packers were at work with eight at the grading tables sorting and grading the fruit as it came from the giant washing machine. At exactly 8:21 o'clock the first packed box of oranges rolled down the conveyor belt to a waiting hand truck. Thus, San Juan Capistrano's newly-remodeled packing house started its 1936 season.

Fruit from the Romer-Stoffel property is being run through the house for export shipment. After the initial order is packed from the local house, it is expected that the institution will shut down operations for a time. Upon reopening for the regular season, approximately 35 packers will be employed. Officials expect to double the output of last season.

CLUB SECTION ANAHEIM FARM ELECTS HEADS CENTER MEETS

He is also survived by a grandmother, Mrs. Sarah Felps, in Tennessee.

"Floating Peril"

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

WHAT HAS HAPPENED

Haymer Wildburn thought he had just been ordered to leave his small Bird of Paradise. But one midnight a mysterious girl visitor came aboard, and he was left to wonder what she had come for. Then, when the harbor came, a luxury yacht. Two men aboard it are plainly intensely interested in the Bird of Paradise. They set off at once to see Wildburn. Apparently they are men high in France's political affairs, but Wildburn does not realize this as he welcomes them. They at once ask to purchase the Bird, and are surprised when Wildburn tells them of his offer of the night before. Now go on with the story.

"Nothing doing," Wildburn assured them. "Nothing doing with the first would-be purchaser and nothing doing with you gentlemen. I am delighted to see you both, but I am sorry you have had the trouble of coming. My boat is not for sale."

"There is one question I would like to ask," the Baron ventured eagerly. "Who has been here before us wanting to buy the boat?"

"My dear Albert," Mermillon remonstrated. "We must not be too inquisitive. I know my friend's idea, of course," he continued, turning back to Wildburn. "He is wondering whether some other member of my family has had the same idea, or perhaps even Claude, my nephew, himself. This," he added, turning round, "is so exactly what the lad has always wanted."

"The offer came from—no matter where," Wildburn said. "I have no reason to believe, however, that it came from any one of your own people. In any case, it makes no difference. The boat is not for sale."

Mermillon had the air of one suffering from a mild but not insupportable disappointment. "You would not object, Monsieur Wildburn, I hope," he asked when I ordered from the builders the exact duplicate of this admirable craft?"

"I should not have the faintest objection in the world," Wildburn assured him. "But it would take them at least 10 months to build a boat of this description."

Mermillon threw up his hands. "Ten months—but it is unbelievable," he exclaimed. "The young are not used to such delays. To wait for 10 months would be impossible. Under these regrettable circumstances, Monsieur Wildburn," he went on, after a momentary pause, "you will not be offended if I ask whether this decision of yours not to sell your boat is absolutely final. I am only a French politician, not a world-famous banker like my friend here, and, as you know, French politicians are not amongst the wealthy ones of the world. Still, in the present instance, I might almost say that money is no object."

Wildburn appeared a little distressed. His visitor's tone and manner were alike charming. "I have been one of your sincere admirers, Monsieur Mermillon," he said, "and I should be very nearly to that if you are the man of common sense I think you are."

"May I make a suggestion?" De Bret intervened. "My friend, Mermillon, here has shown me a side of his character which I must confess that I never knew before. He is as impetuous as a boy about this present he wishes to make his nephew. I am afraid I am of a more cautious temperament. May lon," he said, "and I should hate to seem in any way discourteous to a person of such distinction, but the fact of it is that just now I am not in need of money and the boat suits me exactly. Instead of finishing my vacation, as I had planned, cruising around in these seas, I should have all the trouble of dealing with specifications and superintending the rebuilding of another boat. . . . Allow me to offer you chairs, Auguste!" he called out to the check chairs here for these gentlemen.

The two visitors were soon comfortably ensconced. Their host produced cigarettes and cigars. Mermillon resumed the conversation. "It is obvious," he remarked, "that the matter would present inconvenience to you. That I should take it into account."

"It would be a beastly nuisance," Hamer Wildburn assented. "That is why I am afraid I must remain obstinate. I love France but I hate Marseilles. I have no wish to return there. What I want to do is to spend the rest of the summer idling about here."

"I do not blame you," Mermillon declared. "I find it very natural. The situation is delightful, and you have, doubtless, many friends. Still, there is this to be considered—I do not weary you by my persistence, I trust?"

"Not in the least," Wildburn assured him. "But I am afraid you will find me very intransigent. I have heard a considerable fortune, I have such simple tastes in life that money has lots of its significance. You will excuse the vulgarity of this statement. It comes into our discussion."

"No vulgarly at all," Wildburn assured his visitor. "You should hear some of our Westerners at home talk about their dollars. I am frankly delighted to meet a man over on this side who admits that he has any money left. It seems to be the fashion everywhere to plead poverty. I am rather tired of meeting poor men. This means, I suppose," he added, "that I can write my own cheque if I consider giving up the boat?"

Mermillon smiled. "Not quite," he said. "It might come very nearly to that if you are the man of common sense I think you are."

"May I make a suggestion?" De Bret intervened. "My friend, Mermillon, here has shown me a side of his character which I must confess that I never knew before. He is as impetuous as a boy about this present he wishes to make his nephew. I am afraid I am of a more cautious temperament. May rolled down the conveyor belt to a waiting hand truck. Thus, San Juan Capistrano's newly-remodeled packing house started its 1936 season.

Fruit from the Romer-Stoffel property is being run through the house for export shipment. After the initial order is packed from the local house, it is expected that the institution will shut down operations for a time. Upon reopening for the regular season, approximately 35 packers will be employed. Officials expect to double the output of last season.

Midway Relief Corps Meets

MIDWAY CITY.—William A. Smalley Woman's Relief corps members held their regular meeting Monday evening in the Woman's clubhouse, with Mrs. Helen Trettn, Westminster, received as a new member.

Mrs. Everette Hylton, Westminster, was appointed assistant conducer, Mrs. Gladys Carson, president, will attend the state convention to be held in Santa Barbara, it was decided. Following the business meeting a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served.

Mrs. Harry Kingsbury reviewed the autobiography of Melba at a meeting of the Book club Monday in the home of Mrs. J. A. Houlihan. Present were Mrs. J. L. Esser, Mrs. W. E. Moore, Mrs. W. C. Wilson, Mrs. Viola Henderson, Mrs. Marcus Jungjohann and Mrs. C. A. Whitte.

Orange P-T. A. Boards Honored

ORANGE.—Mrs. August Pestolesi, new president of the West Orange P-T. A., entertained members of the old and new executive boards and their husbands Monday night at her home, 420 South Bush street. Mrs. Victor Hupp, outgoing president, and Mrs. and Mrs. Oscar Milbrat received gifts. Mr. Milbrat served as vice president during the past year.

"Well, Mac, this is the first time the 'old boat' hasn't pulled me out of the seat when trying to make a sharp turn. That new Bean wheel front aligner is sure great." This is the comment B. F. McCausland, manager of the repair department at George Dunton's, has been hearing the past few days since this new equipment has been installed. Wheel alignment can now be handled very satisfactorily when using this Bean wheel equipment. No guesswork, and a guaranteed satisfactory job.

R. V. Byrne, local Packard dealer, has some real facts concerning royalty. Twelve Packards were just shipped to Japan for the imperial household, according to Mr. Byrne. The garage of the Japanese imperial household now houses a large fleet of Packards. New cars for the palace have been ordered in fleets several times, and many have been delivered one or two at a time. As a part of the preparations for the visit of the emperor of Manchukuo to Japan a year ago, 12 Packards were delivered to the imperial household and a score or more to Japanese statesmen and other high dignitaries of that country.

BENEFITS OF HIGHWAY TO BE MANY

Improvement Valuable to Motorists of the Southland

Construction is in full swing on the new and final Moreno valley section of the Riverside-Beaumont highway, a valuable improvement for Southern California motorists. Many benefits will result from the building of this arrow-like link, which will extend from near the summit of Box Spring grade, southeast of Riverside, via an overhead crossing of the Santa Fe tracks and for about nine miles directly east to Theodore street, following Greenville avenue. The overhead near the Lawless road, to be built under separate contract, is to avoid congestion and the broad, straight roadway will join the 6.8-mile section completed in November between North Moreno and Beaumont. The entire project calls for 11.7 miles of 28-foot highway, including a 2.3 mile connection with the San Jacinto route.

This means that about Oct. 1 motorists should be able to use an almost entirely new 16-mile modern boulevard between Riverside and Beaumont.

Many advantages will accrue to motorists from this highway, notes the Automobile Club of Southern California, which incidentally is one of the agencies which lent material help in placing this route in the state system and pushing its development.

New Highway to L. A. Playground

AZUSA, Calif., May 13. (AP)—Until 1928 the only route to Crystal Lake park, newest Los Angeles county playground, was by burro train.

Now a wide, oil-surfaced highway leads to the water's edge, a major improvement over all former roads.

Results: 5,750 persons visited the mile high resort a week ago, with the Diesel engine. This type of engine is known for its low operating costs and long wearing qualities. Otto Rowe thought speed was out of the question for these large engines, but Mr. Holland answered the challenge by showing a record made by a Diesel-equipped racing car which went over 130 miles per hour at Dayton Beach on March 2, 1936. This is a world's record for this kind of engine.

New Designs Foretell Future Styles

This is a progressive age, and automobiles as well as apartment houses are "going modern." A V-12 Lincoln Zephyr, the new, completely streamlined car of 1936, is pictured here emerging from the driveway of a modernistic apartment. In the words of style designers, both car and apartment will be "new two years from now." This car may be seen at George Dunton's, Santa Ana dealer.

Red Cross Expands Campaign Against Highway Deaths

CHICAGO, May 13. (AP)—The American Red Cross aimed reinforcements today against death on the nation's highways, described by Admiral Cary T. Grayson, national chairman, as "a national emergency of year round disaster proportions."

Organizers at the annual national Red Cross convention announced that rapid expansion of volunteer personnel to give emergency first aid in motor accident cases was deemed a major project. Admiral Grayson pointed to more than 36,000 killed and 105,000 maimed in the United States in 1935 as the motivating force. Already the Red Cross has placed 1,000 emergency stations, manned by volunteers, in operation along dangerous sections of roads and has designated a total of 3,000 stations for establishment in 30 states.

MINERALOGISTS GO ON TOUR

An educational tour of the gold, lead, zinc and other mines at Silverado was conducted by Arthur Terrill, mineralogist, for a group of Orange county people Saturday. Those in the party were Mrs. Bertha Crane, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Thompson, Santa Ana; Lulu Evanston, Tustin; James Tanner, Tustin; Lloyd Wesler and Ervin G. North, Anaheim; C. W. Hess, Artesia; R. Nelson, Buena Park; Edgar Morefield, Brea; William Everett, Anaheim; George Oswell, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Hoising, Charles Knowlton and Robert Kaylor, Fullerton.

PEDESTRIANS AT FAULT

While ignoring the appalling consequences of automobile accidents, records indicate only one fatality for every 6,250,000 miles of motor travel and only one accident of any sort for every 250,000 miles, states a bulletin received by the Automobile Club of Southern California public safety department. Pedestrians are involved in 38 per cent of all accidents and are to blame for at least 60 per cent of those in which they are injured, according to the report.

THEY'RE REPAIR SPECIALISTS

HARRY HARLOW

A new style in garage business methods has been adopted by Harry Harlow of the Harry Harlow Automotive Service, 204 East Fifth street, Santa Ana, by which he employs each of his men as an expert on some particular part of the automobile.

"For example, we have one man who is an expert on a motor, another on a carburetor, another on brakes, etc., on down the line," Mr. Harlow said today. "But all of these men work together to turn out the entire, and expertly handled, repair job."

Mr. Harlow first started in automotive work in 1916, before the World war. He conceived the idea of specializing when he was working for Ford Motor company, in Detroit. During the war, he continued in his work as an automotive expert, serving in the motor transport division of the United States army.

PARK OFF HIGHWAY

Never stop your car on the highway if it is possible to park on the side. This is one of the most common causes of accidents, especially at night. If such parking is unavoidable don't fail to warn approaching motorists of your distress.

Safety Featured

Here, says Jerry Hall, local dealer, is the new U. S. Royal Master which, it is claimed, brings a car to a full stop in two-thirds the distance required by the conventional anti-skid tire on roads of the worst type. A new anti-skid principle based on the use of narrow, flexible ribs which are de-skidded establishes this tire as the U. S. Rubber's greatest contribution to safety.

Parents of reckless bicycle riders and children playing dangerously in streets will be notified and educational work in traffic safety conducted.

G. P. WINNER FOR SAFETY

News of the award of both a first and a second place to General Petroleum corporation for for safety conducted by the American Petroleum Institute, has reached J. E. Jones, Santa Ana branch manager for this major oil company.

"To E. L. Adams, manager of our big pipeline department," says Mr. Jones, "comes the announcement that his department maintained the best accident-prevention record last year of any similar department of 16 large oil companies in the United States, with a lost-time accident frequency of only 746 per million hours of work, compared with the national average of 13.85."

"To A. L. Knipping, jr., general manager of our operating department, comes news that the marketing and operating department of General Petroleum won second place in the safety competition among all large oil companies in the nation."

"We are extending congratulations to H. H. Mosher, our Southern California operating department manager, and to the many persons who established this laudable record. It is learned that during the past year there were but 20 lost-time accidents in General's marketing department, during 3,299,000 man-hours of salesmen, bulk plant operators, service station operators, truck drivers in transporting and dispensing Mobilgas, Mobiloil and our other petroleum products. This is an accident frequency of only 6.06 per million hours of work. It is 50 per cent better than the national average for large oil companies, which is given by the institute as 9.53 lost-time accidents per million hours."

Newport Granted River Easement

Easement across the Santa Ana river channel from Stanton drive to a point about 200 feet below the Pacific Electric railroad tracks was granted to the city of Newport Beach yesterday by the board of supervisors.

GET LICENSE NUMBERS

If you should witness a traffic accident don't fail to take the license of every car involved. The importance of jotting down license figures is well illustrated in a recent instance when the occupants of a car which struck a woman threw her on the railroad tracks after supposedly starting to a hospital with her.

Motorist Since 1911 Finally Takes Train Ride

KING CITY, May 13. (AP)—Judge William Breen has ended his quarter-century "boycott" against railroads.

He purchased King City's first automobile in 1911 and hadn't used any other kind of transportation until he went to San Francisco by train recently. His wife wanted the automobile that day.

BOOST BUICK PRODUCTION

"Production schedules of the Buick Motor company for May have been set at 18,043 units, exclusive of Canadian shipments, a boost of approximately 6,000 cars over the output originally planned for this month," G. W. Gordon, of the Reed Motor company, distributor of Buick automobiles for Santa Ana, announced today.

"This will be the highest average daily output since the introduction of the 1936 models last fall," he said, "exceeding the average during April. May production will compare with 18,582 cars built during April, the slight decline being accounted for by the fact that there is one less working day in May. Operations are on a five-day basis, with two and three shifts working in most departments. The final assembly plant operates on two shifts."

"Notwithstanding heavy sales that have made April the best month thus far experienced, unfilled orders are hand at the factory have continued to increase. These were approximately 12,500 going into the new month. Shipments during the past month average 780 cars daily."

Mr. Gordon said he looks for the May retail volume to continue the heavy pace set in April, with the likelihood that May sales will exceed those of April and establish the selling peak of the year.

"There is no indication of an immediate let-up in the heavy demand," he said. "Reports from Buick dealers are extremely optimistic, the sentiment being that the April stride will be stepped up somewhat in May."

SUPERVISORS DEMAND SHOWDOWN ON PRISON SITE QUESTION

SEEK PUBLIC HEARING IN SANTA ANA

Board Wants 'Cards Put on Table' Concerning Institution Location

Cards on the table in regard to the state prison for Orange county.

Yesterday the board of supervisors demanded a showdown on the question when it unanimously moved to request a public hearing in Santa Ana on the prison site, "if Orange county still is being considered."

The state committee on the selection of the site will be requested to call such a meeting in Santa Ana, members of the board stated, after Supervisor N. E. West had moved that the request be made.

At such a meeting, it was explained, arguments pro and con on establishment of a state prison farm near Costa Mesa could be presented at once to the site committee.

A battle royal has been waging over the matter ever since The Journal announced that the committee was strongly favoring the selection of Orange county as the site for a new Southern California prison.

Public and civic interests throughout the county have rallied to demand that the prison be put elsewhere. There also has been some considerable pressure brought to bear in favor of its establishment here. The board feels that a public hearing, in the community where the location is proposed, would do much to clear the atmosphere.

$91,735 Judgment Is Won by Bank

A default judgment for $91,735.11 in favor of the Bank of America against the Cutler-Lobinger Packing Company of Los Angeles was handed down yesterday afternoon in superior court by Presiding Judge G. K. Scovel.

The bank had brought suit to foreclose a trust deed as a mortgage on a plant site in Fullerton, bought five years ago by the packing company through the Los Angeles and Salt Lake railroad. The trust deed on the building site was assigned to the bank.

Judgment was for $92,366.30 principal, $260.82 interest, $187.95 interest, and $500 attorney's fees. Mr. Ruth Anderson was appointed commissioner. The bank was represented by the Santa Ana law firm of Rutan and Mize.

TUESDAY MEETING, PICNIC PLANNED

Old and new board members of Spurgeon Parent-Teachers' association, teachers and their husbands and friends will be guests of the P-T-A. at a picnic in Anaheim park, June 4, according to plans made by the executive board yesterday morning, at the school.

Annual reports were read during open meeting, and announcement made of regular P-T-A. session next Tuesday, at 2:30 p. m.

WAHLBERG REVIEWS REPORT ON AVOCADO VARIETIES

Farm Advisor Harold Wahlberg today reviewed the report of the variety committee of the California Avocado Association, made at its recent annual meeting here. The committee recommended five varieties that merit commercial standing—the Fuerte, Puebla, Nabal, Dickinson and Anaheim.

"In commenting on these varieties," said Mr. Wahlberg, "the committee stated that the Fuerte variety comprises approximately 70 per cent of the present avocado acreage in California. In marketability, it is unsurpassed. It produces in the most desirable season (the winter and early spring) and has a long picking season, which enables the crop to be handled in an orderly manner. In considering a variety to replace it, these two facts are most vital. At present there is no new variety in sight that meets these needs. The Fuerte is definitely unsuited to the coastal and interior belts. It does its best in selected portions of the intermediate area.

Other Varieties
"The Puebla is a good-quality fruit for the late fall and early winter seasons. Of a good size, flavor and quality, it has about the same reliability as the Fuerte in the intermediate and interior belts. It is not satisfactory in the coastal belt.

"The Nabal is a summer fruit of fine quality but rather too large. The trees are generally vigorous and upright and somewhat tender to frost as are most Guatemalans. With large plantings just coming into bearing, it may be easy to overload and market at its season. Its production-habits are not fully established, but it seems definitely an alternate-bearer. Its regional range of adaptation is not yet determined.

"The Dickinson is a summer fruit, sometimes of fine quality but often affected with a pink discoloration and bitterness. Because of its very thick, hard shell and the problem of telling when it is soft enough to eat, it is difficult to market. It has been an excellent producer and a profitable one on the coastal plain and is a reliable bearer there, but is definitely unsuited to the other areas.

Intermediate Area
"The Anaheim is a late spring fruit; an upright, slender tree of reasonable vigor; it is probably the most reliable producer. It regularly turns off great quantities of large, poor-quality fruit, which often have difficulty in passing the standardization requirements before they have to be picked. It is most difficult to market where large quantities are concerned. It is best suited to the coastal and intermediate areas.

"The intermediate area embraces Tustin, La Habra Heights, Anaheim, Fullerton, Brea and Yorba Linda districts in Orange county. "The Orange county representatives on the variety committee are Harold E. Wahlberg, farm advisor, and H. E. Marsh, La Habra. Carter Barrett of Pasadena is chairman."

ON THE POLITICAL FRONT

MRS. JUNE FICKEL

(By The Associated Press)

Mrs. June Fickel of Iowa, the Democratic "grass trampler" of 1932, expects to tramp more middlewestern sod in 1936. She won the title four years ago because of her activity in stumping all parts of the farm belt for Roosevelt.

She was a farmer before she was drafted as assistant director of the women's division of her party, so could talk farm problems with authority. She was a professional singer, so her voice carried well to the rear of the tent. She is a breezy, unaffected, witty western woman, so even the men folk like to hear her.

Now that four years have passed she knows much more than the farm sector of the New Deal. She will go back to tramping grass shortly, and she won't stop until the election is over.

PRESBYTERIAL HEAD TO SPEAK TONIGHT

Mrs. R. E. Carswell, recently elected president of the Women's Presbyterial, will be guest speaker the Estrella Daniels missionary society at dinner meeting of city at the First Presbyterian church. Dinner is to be served at 6 o'clock.

Each member is expected to bring a guest, covered dishes and table service for herself and her guest. Members of the Grace Rowley and Women's missionary societies have been invited to attend the dinner and hear Mrs. Carswell.

BOARD TO SELL SCHOOL BONDS

The board of supervisors yesterday authorized the immediate advertisement of the $8000 school improvement bonds voted on May 5 by the Olive school district. Sealed bids must be in the hands of the board before June 2. The bonds will be sold that day at 11 a. m.

JEROME OFF TO RELIEF MEETING

County Supervisor W. C. Jerome left last night for Sacramento, where he will attend a meeting of the state public relief committee.

ONE PROGRAM OF FIESTA IS PUBLIC

Morning Activities on Friday at J. C. to Be Open to All

Invitations were extended today to the public to attend the morning activities of Santa Ana Junior college on Fiesta day, Friday.

Featured on this program will be Eben Coe, noted Pacific coast baritone, and Robert Ernest Cowan, collector of rare books and a famous bibliophile, who will be the speaker for the occasion.

Following the student parade, the remaining activities of the day will be conducted in the arena to be constructed in the rear of the board of education building.

Several other talks will be presented by Terry E. Stephenson and Father Owen of St. Anthony's seminary, Santa Barbara. Spanish music and dancing will be given by others for the morning's entertainment.

The afternoon celebration is for the graduating seniors of the Orange county high schools only.

COE WILL SING AT J. C. FIESTA

Eben Coe, direct descendant of early California pioneers, and well known Santa Barbara baritone, will be one of the feature attractions at the ninth annual Santa Ana Junior college Fiesta to be held in Santa Ana, May 15. It was announced today by Harris Warren, fiesta chairman. "Coe has been singing on the Pacific coast for a number of years," Warren stated, "and has been commended highly on his work." Samuel L. Stanwood, president of Santa Barbara Old Spanish days, said of his singing, "There would be no fiesta in Santa Barbara without Eben Coe. To me and thousands of others, his program was the most outstanding in our fiesta last year."

Mr. Coe comes from early California stock, his great-grandfather having helped Fremont establish Santa Barbara from the Mexicans in 1846 without the loss of life. On his father's side his lineage is traced to early colonial days when his great-grandfather was a chaplain with Washington at Valley Forge.

FIFTH HOUSEHOLD GROUP HAS LOVELY LUNCHEON MEETING

A beautiful day and a very happy meeting marked the assembling of Ebell fifth household economics section members yesterday. The clubwomen were entertained at luncheon in the Doris Kathryn tearoom by Mesdames Thayer Montgomery, P. B. Gillespie, F. A. Burkett and F. H. Umberhan. Pretty flowers decked the tables.

Mrs. L. E. Allen conducted the business hour in the absence of Mrs. F. F. Mead, who is in Sacramento conventioning. Mrs. Mead, Mrs. Allen as assistant leader and Mrs. Anna Bowman as secretary-treasurer were chosen to hold office another year in the section. Miss Clara Richards headed the nominating committee. Mrs. Gillespie is chairman of the June 9 social meeting to close the year.

In the program, Mrs. F. P. Nickey gave an entertaining discussion on the life of Sara Josepha Hale, early American business woman and editor of Godey's Lady's magazine in the 1850's. She also displayed her bound volume of the famous magazine.

Bridge concluded the day. Mrs. Herbert Krahling, Mrs. S. A. Jones and Miss Clara Richards received gifts.

TOROSA REBEKAHS
First nomination of officers will be held by Torosa Rebekahs during a short business meeting called for 8 o'clock this evening in I. O. O. F. hall.

Puff gulps in surprise as this big crocodile Stops crying and stretches his jaws in a smile. "I thank you," he says, in a very low voice. "I dare say you've made a most excellent choice."

Phone Employees Hear Lecture

Mrs. Marguerite Harrison, writer, traveler and former government secret service operative, reviewed Monday night before Santa Ana telephone company employees some of the interesting incidents of her life as contained in her latest book, "There Is Always Tomorrow." Mrs. Harrison was born in a hurricane, and she has managed to get into storms all her life. This book recounts her experiences as an operator in the World War and as a newspaper woman in Germany, Russia, the Balkans and on the Russo-Japanese border. Her interest in Russia twice landed her in Soviet jails, once in Moscow and once in the Far East.

Mrs. Harrison also worked with Merian Cooper producing the motion picture, "Grass," shown in Santa Ana some time ago. The picture covers her adventures in the Balkans and in Persia, where she accompanied the primitive tribes featured in the production on their perilous trek from the Gulf of Persia over rugged mountain ranges to the upper pasture lands of Iran in search of grass. This remarkable picture won a national award, and copies are being retained in the Field museum in Chicago, the Smithsonian institute at Washington, D. C., and a copy is to be placed in the Museum of Modern Art in New York City in a film library compiled to preserve films for posterity.

Mrs. Harrison came to Santa Ana as part of a program by the telephone company to bring outstanding features to its employees at a nominal charge.

Supervisors to Attend Session

All members of the board of supervisors with the exception of Willard Smith will attend the meeting of the state supervisors association May 20, 21 and 22 in Eureka. The board, as a consequence will meet on Saturday, rather than on next Tuesday, May 19.

TURF AGENCY CASE AGAIN POSTPONED

Defense Plea Causes Trial Date to Be Set for June 10

Defense attorneys for the seven members of the Continental Turf Agency, former horse-race betting establishment located here, won another postponement yesterday in superior court.

Presiding Judge G. K. Scovel reset date for trial as June 10, after Defense Attorney Richard Cantillon had urged the necessity for more time to prepare his case.

The men were arrested two months ago, after their establishment had been closed suddenly as a result of activities of the sheriff's office in investigating them.

Frank Scooby, manager, and six employees are charged with violations of the California betting law, and with gambling and making pools. This is the fourth postponement won by Mr. Cantillon since the state moved against the men's case.

Demurrers, objections and requests for postponements of various kinds have succeeded in retarding progress of the case. It will be heard by Judge Scovel when it finally comes to trial, since Superior Judge James H. Allen has already qualified himself a month ago on the grounds that he lived next door to H. B. Van Deen, one of the defendants.

BEACH BURGLAR IS CONVICTED

Manuel Proa, Seal Beach Mexican, protested vigorously yesterday in superior court when he was found guilty on two counts of burglary, but he protested too late.

When Superior Judge G. K. Scovel asked him if he had anything to say at the conclusion of the trial, Proa, who had done nothing before to defend himself, jumped to his feet.

"Say," he shouted, "isn't my word (pointing to a Seal Beach police officer) as good as that guy's?"

The judge explained that it might have been, but the time for him to defend himself had passed, and the court had no alternative but to pronounce him guilty. Judgment will be pronounced Friday.

Proa was convicted of burglarizing on Feb. 19 a garage and the public school in Seal Beach. He stole 16 shop tools from the manual training shop of the school and nothing from the garage, although he opened the garage window with a tool from the school.

Laguna C. C. Urges Liquor Law Change

Opposition to "the present lax and inefficient manner in which the drink evil is being handled" was expressed at a meeting of the board of directors of the Laguna Beach chamber of commerce there last night and action was taken recommending state control of liquor sales under regulations similar to those now enforced in the state of Washington.

In line with recommendations of the committee on the liquor situation, the chamber will address a letter to the city council requesting fullest police cooperation in enforcement of the present laws, particularly as they relate to the sale of liquor to minors and closing hours of liquor establishments.

Tax Discussion At Forum Tonight

The second of a series of three lectures on taxation problems will be presented tonight at the weekly meeting of the Forum for Political and Economic Education at the Unitarian church, Eighth and Bush streets. The speaker is R. E. Chadwick, executive secretary of the Sales Tax Repeal Association, an organization fostering passage of the single tax amendment. The meeting starts at 7:30 o'clock and will be under the direction of Ted Blanding.

CATHOLIC WOMEN TO ATTEND MEET

Headed by Mrs. Ashby Turner, president of the Orange county Catholic Women's society, a delegation of 11 Santa Anans will attend diocesan convention of the San Diego-Los Angeles county societies Friday and Saturday at the Ambassador hotel, Los Angeles.

In the group will be Mesdames Turner, E. Johnson, William Maag, George Young, William Castler, J. P. Murphy, J. A. Crawford, Mary Croal, C. L. Cerner, Harry Edwards and Tony Osterkamp.

++ County Landmarks ++ Town of Smeltzer, Where Great Celery Growing Experiment was Tried

(In an effort to acquaint residents of Orange county with some of their most-prized historic possessions, The Journal is publishing a series of daily articles on county landmarks. These articles will describe their location and give historical facts concerning them. Today's article tells about Smeltzer, where great celery growing experiment was tried.—Editor.)

The town of Smeltzer keeps alive in the memory of an epoch in Orange county's agricultural history, in which the growing of celery rose to considerable prominence, but later declined.

D. P. Smeltzer, whose name is perpetuated in the name of the town, was one of the first men to promote the raising of celery in the region of Westminster. The first experiments along this line were made in 1891 on a tract south of Westminster. This property was known as the Snow and Adams place.

The first attempt at raising celery on a commercial basis was not a success. E. A. Curtis, who was one of the prime movers with Mr. Smeltzer in the venture, persisted in trying to make the crop a success. He interested the Earl Fruit company in the proposition.

This concern hired Mr. Curtis to manager the project. He employed a Chinese gardener from Los Angeles, believing his experience in raising vegetables would be of value. Eighty acres of celery were planted and $5,000 was spent to make the experiment a success.

The American citizens resented employment of Chinese labor. Buildings connected with the project were burned, tools and equipment came up missing and the Chinese were terrorized. But, despite these setbacks, the work was carried on. Fifty carloads of celery were shipped to New York and Kansas City, at a small profit.

From this beginning the celery industry grew until in 1902, a total of 2500 carloads of the product were shipped. After 1910 the popularity of celery growing declined as other crops attracted the attention of farmers.

By ELLEN SNEBLEY

Mister Stork played the Pied Piper's air in front of St. Joseph's hospital yesterday afternoon and a steady stream of babes-in-arms and toddlers holding mother's hand trooped into the hospital for the annual babies' party.

Three hundred seventy-five babies were born in 364 days up to May 1, and yesterday 300 babies including a few older tots, appeared. Richard Grauer, R. 4, Box 319, Anaheim, won the big teddy bear, and Baby Barbara Ann Trautman, the life-sized baby doll offered to lucky infants at the party.

Smiling nurses of the hospital welcomed the guests and led them to the patio in which gay balloons were fastened to fruit trees, and garden furniture created a party setting for the affair.

Little Jerry There

Little Jerry Babylon, aged 14 weeks and weighing 13 pounds, wore a crisp linen cap and his summer togs as he arrived in the arms of his mother, Mrs. Henry Babylon. He arrived along with other party-bedecked youngsters who cooed, gurgled or cried a bit. Three months brought an imposing mop of soft brown hair to little Carol Ann Eisenbraun, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Eisenbraun of Orange. "She has a dimple in each cheek," her mother proudly said as she chuckled Carol Ann under the chin.

"Shirley, doesn't this look like Buddy?" cried one mother, while near her another maternal parent admonished, "Oh, no, you mustn't pull the little girl's hair."

Pair of 2-Year-Olds
Diane and Dorothy Schacht, 2-year-old daughters of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Schacht, formerly of Orange and now of Long Beach, are the two remaining sisters in a girl set of triplets. Their sister, Doris, died of pneumonia at the age of four and a half months. Diane and Dorothy were in pink frocks and bonnets, tumbling around in the sandpile.

Blue eyes and a round, healthy face were boasted by 3½-month-old David Carl Irwin, whose mother, Mrs. Fay Irwin, and whose sister, Frances Irwin, stood guard over him at the party. Ronald Korn, pink-dressed seven-weeks-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Korn of Anaheim and grandson of Mrs. Charles Korn of Anaheim, cooed contentedly, while Mrs. Joseph Gifford (Lynette) little Carol Ann Beach was kept busy amusing young Joan Marie, aged 9½ months, her light-haired daughter.

In Peasant Frock
A peasant frock combined with a sprig bonnet, long blonde curls and big eyes to attract attention to Marydith Kendall, 21-month-old daughter of the Charles Kondalls jr. She was with her brunette young mother.

Donald Vieira, typical member of the Vieira tribe, was present with his mother, Mrs. Harold Vieira of Fullerton. He has acquired eight teeth and is nine months old. He also has a splendid crop of brown ringlet curls.

Arthur Eklund jr., 3, was perky in a plaid suit which accented his very platinum curly hair.

Young Yorba Seion
Descendant of the historic Yorba family was 2-months-old Clara Marie Garcia, dark daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Garcia of San Juan Capistrano. She is granddaughter of a Yorba.

Roger Montanus, son of Dr. and Mrs. John J. Montanus, displayed the best sustenance at the party, accented his blond locks. While the older children played, the youngest baby present was

QUADRUPLETS TAKE GRIP ON LIFE

Passaic Babes Stronger and Heavier; Family Treasury Swells

PASSAIC, N. J., May 13. (AP)—The quadruplet situation at a glance today:

The four football-size babies entered their fifth day of life with a firmer grip on it.

Mama Elsie Kasper, suffering from a bronchial cold, cannot as yet see her Frances, Frank, Ferdinand and Felix.

Papa Very Happy

Papa Emil Kasper, blissfully happy, doesn't know when he will return to that $22-a-week job in a railroad roundhouse.

Dr. Frank J. Jani, the family doctor, disclosed that Dr. Allan Datoe, deliverer of the Dionne quadruplets, had sent him an encouraging telegram, and added that he was profiting by the Canadian physician's experience.

Mayor Benjamin F. Turner, the Kaspers' business manager, rejoiced that "God saw fit to bestow this blessing on these people in Passaic."

Treasury Grows
The Kasper treasury grew, with $600 in cash and a newspaper syndicate contract calling for $750 plus $40 a week the first year, $50 a week the second year, and half of any motion picture profits. Mrs. Kasper hinted that a round trip to Germany, her homeland, aboard the dirigible Hindenburg would be much more desirable. She would take the quadruplets with her.

The morning weigh-in showed that three of the four babies had gained weight over night. Frances was up a half ounce to 3 pounds, 10 ounces. Ferdinand also gained a half ounce to 3 pounds, 8 ounces. Felix made a quarter-ounce gain to 2 pounds, 14½ ounces. Frank was unchanged at 3 pounds, 4 ounces. Nurses said the quartet had a good night and their temperatures were normal for premature babies.

DANCE RECITAL TO BE JUNE 10

Rehearsals for Miss Vera Merilyn Getty's third annual musical and dancing recital, featuring 225 juvenile entertainers in a program at Frances Willard Junior High school auditorium June 13, are in full swing this week.

All proceeds, as during the past two years, will be turned over to the student loan fund at Santa Ana Junior college. D. K. Hammond, director of the college, is assisting Miss Getty and her accompanist, Mrs. Janet Martin, with program arrangements.

New costumes have been ordered and scenery for the recital is being prepared by the art department at Santa Ana High school.

Thirty-five students under seven years of age are among the 225 who will appear in tap dancing and other numbers under the direction of Miss Getty, who is arranging a musical novelty of mother-goose rhymes.

Nye Martin, boy soprano, who won first place in the Orange county amateur talent try-outs here recently, will compete in the Southern California finals at the Wilshire-Ebell theater in Los Angeles Friday night. Three other of Miss Getty's representatives—Miss Velma Stroud, dancer; Miss Carolyn Wells, tap dancer and singer; and Wally Grigg, eccentric tap dancer—also will appear along with other finalists in the amateur contests held here and throughout the Southland. Miss Getty and Mrs. Martin will accompany their students to Los Angeles.

SOIL PROGRAM PROVISIONS ARE OUTLINED BY CORY

Assistant Farm Advisor W. M. Cory today outlined provisions of the national agricultural conservation program, which will soon be considered by farmers in Orange county. The program has been designed to carry out the objectives of the soil conservation and domestic allotment act.

The program is designed to prevent soil deterioration and build up depleted soil. It will be financed in 1936 by a congressional appropriation of $470,000,000. Payments will be made to producers, measured by their use of land for soil restoration, conservation or erosion prevention; for changes in the use of land, and "the domestic allotment of one or more designated commodities." Mr. Cory said. "Productivity of the land affected is to be taken into consideration in making payments measured by changes in use of land or treatment of land for soil conservation."

The secretary of agriculture is authorized to use local committees of producers to carry out provisions of the soil conservation and community chairman and their districts are C. E. McFadden, El Toro and San Juan Capistrano; Walter Pollard, Tustin and Irvine; Stephen Griset, Greenville and Costa Mesa; W. O. Broady, Talbert and Garden Grove; J. A. Murdy, Huntington Beach and Westminster; E. F. Zimmer, Anaheim and Buena Park; E. D. Lang, Fullerton, La Habra, Brea and Placentia; R. W. Hull, Orange and Olive, and A. F. Schroeder, Santa Ana and West Orange.

Mrs. James Irvine Starts Art Gallery Benefit Party Series at Lovely Tea

80 Women Are Guests for Afternoon

Hospitality of Socialite Extended to Countywide Art Group

Just another instance of her fine public-spiritedness and eagerness to lend her energies and enthusiasm where there is a truly worthwhile project was displayed when Mrs. James Irvine opened her beautiful ranch home yesterday afternoon to 80 Orange county women.

The occasion was a bridge tea which started the ball rolling in a countywide series of parties in a membership drive for the Laguna Beach Art association. The purpose of the series is to create a fund to pay off the indebtedness on the Laguna Beach art gallery, Southland showplace and one of three galleries in the nation to be owned by artists and laymen in an association.

More Parties Set
Mrs. Irvine as chairman of the drive gave the first party, and each of her guests in turn will entertain a group of friends at a smaller, similar benefit. Their guests will also entertain, so that the broadening chain will finance the gallery which is now in danger of being lost through lack of funds.

Mrs. N. E. West of Laguna Beach is working as Mrs. Irvine's secretary. Mrs. Harry Gordon Martin of Laguna is treasurer. Mrs. Lou Merritt is working as contact chairman for the drive. Mrs. Olazabai Senora and Mrs. L. King are doing publicity. Mrs. Lewis P. Moulton of El Toro is countywide chairman of the membership drive, working with Mrs. Irvine, and she will entertain May 22 for some 300 women in her ranch home.

Other Chairmen
Mrs. Charles Swan is chairman for Brea, Anaheim, Buena Vista and Yorba Linda. Mrs. Thomas L. McFadden is chairman for Fullerton and Placentia.

At the close of the afternoon of contract bridge guests found their way into the dining room, where a very long table was centered with three spun silver-crystal bowls of pink carnations on an oblong blue mirror over a lacquered table. Mrs. L. Chibberg of Laguna and Mrs. Joan Swan of Anaheim presided over silver tea and coffee services at either end of the table.

Appointments Lovely
The sideboard at one end of the room was heavy with silver pieces including two bowls filled with decorative silver fruits. Throughout the home white daisies were in white enameled iron holders, and ice-cream lent added color to the scene.

LINEN BEACH OUTFIT

You can wear the cape as a skirt or the skirt as a cape, whichever you want to consider as the third piece of this printed linen beach outfit worn by Anne Shirley, who is to be featured in RKO Radio's forthcoming "Miss." The well-fitting halter, shorts and cape-suit are of a South Seas floral print in brown, orange, yellow and black.

HARLO LEBARD IS HOST AT PARTY ON HIS BIRTHDATE

Harlo LeBar, who bears the combined names of his parents, Lois and Harry LeBar, was the center of congratulations at a gay party given Monday afternoon in the family home, 1225 South Parton street.

Games played included two hunts, in which Delores Banks and Doris Miller were winners.

A very lovely table was arranged in the desert house. Flowers were showered from the central lighting fixture, may-poles in miniature were on the lace-laid table, and birthday cake, individual little birthday cakes, ice cream cups and candies were served.

STUDENTS PLANNING AMATEUR PROGRAM TOMORROW

Accordion and xylophone numbers, a student "swing" orchestra and other novel forms of entertainment will be presented tomorrow night by Lathrop Junior High school students taking part in the Lathrop Parent-Teachers' association amateur show, at 7:30 in the school assembly hall.

Miss Edith Cornell and Daniel W. Stover are directing music and drama students in the production. The girls' and boys' glee clubs will sing, a farce-comedy and dances are to be presented, and the full school orchestra, in addition to the smaller "swing" band, will play. The program is open to the public. Proceeds of the affair are to be divided between the P. T. A. and student body funds.

SAN BERNARDINANS ARE GUESTS OF PARENTS IN S. A.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard White were guests over the past week-end of their parents in Santa Ana, and this week have returned to their home at 3216 Stoddard street. They attended the wedding of Miss Rose Rogers and the Rev. Ray Cook Saturday in Spurgeon Memorial church. Sunday they visited Mr. White's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence White, 822 East Fourth street, and also Mrs. White's mother, Mrs. Anna Helm of Talbert.

MUSICAL ARTS CLUB TO MEET FRIDAY

Miss Ethel Walker, Santa Ana public librarian, will present a program of book reviews when the Musical Arts club has its 12:15 o'clock luncheon meeting Friday in the James cafe.

The last meeting of the club year will be Tuesday evening, June 16, in the home of Mrs. Holmes Bishop, when a special program is planned.

Women Voters To Hear Tax Speakers

Two of the most authoritative speakers in California on the subject of sales and land value taxes may be heard at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon in the council chamber of the new city hall, when R. E. Chadwick and Hayden Jones address an open meeting sponsored by the Santa Ana League of Women Voters.

Mr. Chadwick, executive secretary of the Sales Tax Repeal association, will detail all arguments in favor of repealing the present sales tax legislation in favor of a land value tax.

Retention of the sales tax and rejection of the proposed land value tax will be advocated by Mr. Jones, Fresno. The speaker is former president of the state realty board.

Mrs. J. D. Campbell will report on a conference with Paul Taylor, Berkeley resettlement administrator, and Miss Alita Brownlee, representative of the Children's bureau, Washington, D. C.

Friday's meeting is one of a series planned by the League of Women Voters, preceding November elections, to acquaint Santa Ana women with measures to be voted upon. Prominent and informed speakers are to be secured for each session. All are open to the public, without charge.

WORLD WIDE GUILD HONORS MOTHERS AT PROGRAM

Combining in presentation of a program to honor their mothers, members of the three divisions of the World Wide Guild met last night at the First Baptist church.

Short business sessions were conducted by respective presidents of the groups, Pauline Cave, Naomi Fletcher chapter; Leonora Marchant, Ashmore circle, and Rosemary Harp, Viola Hill chapter. Ideas for organization improvement gained from the recent guild rally were discussed, under leadership of Pauline Cave.

"Animated Books," a short playlet, was enacted by three members of Viola Hill chapter, Joy Crouse, Lila Marie Moore and Mildred Lockett. Miss Shirley Wade played two piano solos. Punch and cookies were served at the close of the program.

Mothers and guests present were Mesdames J. R. Farwell, C. S. Minter, Clyde Cave, Lloyd G. Rowell, William Lockett, I. L. Marchant, Charles Harp, Ernest Ashland, Roscoe Moore, Fred Watkins, Reed, George Stevens and Miss Mildred Marchant.

BUSY BEES FETED AT PRETTY PARTY IN JOHNSON HOME

Busy Bees lived up to their name when they spent a pleasant and profitable afternoon recently in the home of Mrs. Lulu Johnson, 606 South Broadway.

Their hostess served a delicious 1 o'clock luncheon at a table decorated with pretty bouquets of spring flowers. The two-course luncheon wound up with the serving of strawberry shortcake.

Guests also included Mrs. Sam Hill, a special guest and sister of the hostess, who assisted in the duties of the day; Mesdames Clarence White, Dave McBurney, Ida Hickman, Will Lindsay, A. J. Lasby, Will McBurney and Jack Miller.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE PARTY ARRANGED

Surprising Miss Arlene Perone on her anniversary, a group of friends gathered at her Santa Ana Heights home Saturday evening upon invitation of her mother, Mrs. C. Perone, and aunt, Miss Marie Heimiller. Five tables of buncos were soon in progress, to be followed by serving of refreshments. Bouquets of red sweet peas, each with a tall taper in its midst, centered the tables.

All of the young people present were members of the Gleaners and Phil Theta classes of the Evangelical Methodist church. Miss Eva Hayes and Mr. Hoscraft, class teachers, were present with the Misses Ruth Johnson, Margaret Slusser, Viola Andries, Ruth Brubecker, Mildred Rohrs, Betty Skeel and Eleanor Rohrs. Messrs. and Mesdames Kenneth Rohrs and William Cockhurst, and Messrs. Clarence Rohrs, Lester Rohrs, Marvin Rohrs, Roy Heiser, the guest of honor and hostesses.

CENTENARY FUND IS SWELLED BY GIFT

Progress on the Frances Willard centenary campaign for a five-point educational fund was given an encouraging boost yesterday with the report of a gift of $100 to the fund at W. C. T. U. meeting yesterday at the First Baptist church. Mrs. J. E. Kellogg reported the donation.

Mrs. Margaret McClelland, county director of child welfare for the organization, spoke on "Child Welfare." Miss Emily Cox directed presentation of a playlet, "The Healthful Milky Way," by Mesdames Leah Elliott and Emily West Dyer, and Misses Ida Nay, Corrine and Bernice Linger. Miss Corrine Linger, Anaheim, sang, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Dyer.

Santa Anans To Observe Gold-Day

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Angle, long-time Santa Ana residents, are looking forward with pleasant anticipation to June 1, which will mark their golden wedding day!

A long trail of happy married life together has led from their marriage a half-century ago in San Francisco to Los Angeles, when that city was a mere small town, and on to Santa Ana.

Although Mr. and Mrs. Angle each confess to 71 years, they're as active, healthy and joyous as any couple you can find, and Mr. Angle has not retired from business. He is a public accountant in the Ramona building.

Mrs. Angle was Jennie Isabel Stevenson before her marriage. She was born in Shasta, and her husband in San Francisco. He was a candy manufacturer while in Los Angeles in 1887, and came to Orange county in 1907. In 1905 Mr. and Mrs. Angle built their present home at Hesperian and Third streets.

Their children include two sons, now dead; a third son, Arthur Angle, Santa Ana business man, and a daughter, Mrs. Isabelle Angle of Los Angeles. They plan a busy and eventful anniversary day with their children, do Mr. and Mrs. Angle.

SCHOONER CLUB HAS SUCCESSFUL PARTY

Voted by the participants as one of the most successful affairs held by the organization since it was organized, both as to attendance and entertainment features, was the annual meeting of the Schooner club of the Laguna Community Presbyterian church held Monday night at "The Crown," 2815 South Coast boulevard.

Following dinner, served in ship's style by Steward Ray Robertson and his mess hands, there was a brief business session for election of officers. Attorney and Mrs. Joseph Frenette were elected skipper, succeeding Mr. and Mrs. James Knight. Under the by-laws of the organization, composed entirely of young married couples, husband and wife hold office together. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Littlejohn were given the office of first mate, and that of lookkeeper went to Mr. and Mrs. Rex Rausch. Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Kibbey were elected purser. Following dinner and the election, the members repaired to the social hall of the church where a special program was presented.

Among those present were Attorney and Mrs. Joseph Frenette, Dr. and Mrs. B. J. Van Doren, Superintendent and Mrs. Linton T. Simmons, Messrs. and Mesdames Bronson Buxton, John C. Gibson, Leon C. Endres, Lindsey Thompson, R. L. Bell, Clyde Mackey, Raymond I. Brahm, Redford Reusch, Frank P. Kibbey, Edward R. Williams, John O. Lindsey, Laurence O. Burfell, Paul H. Thompson, Oliver A. Hill, Harold M. Stover, Nelson Holmwood, Arthur Littlejohn, Harry T. Hedges, E. Lamb, M. E. Harlow, William B. Hall, C. W. Maag, Charles P. Rhinard, T. P. Bennett, John Schleicher, Mrs. Lois Shive and Lloyd Accord.

EXCELLENT PROGRAM ENJOYED BY COMMUNITY PLAYERS

An unusually good program was enjoyed when the Santa Ana Community Players had their May meeting at the Barn last night. Mrs. Robert Wade, former chairman, presided and was greeted by her numerous friends.

Miss Beulah May read nine of her latest poems, which were enthusiastically received. Mona Summers Smith gave an entertaining review of the new play, "The End of Summer."

Miss Lella Watson had been assisted by Miss Dorothy Griset in presenting an amusing original comedy, "Liars Two," by William Bachman. Santa Ana Junior collegian. In the cast were Miss Lucille Griset, Elbert Stewart and Reuben Kreutz.

Coffee and cake brought the meeting to a close.

R. A. EMISONS ARE GUESTS AT DINNER IN ALTADENA HOME

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Emison and their daughter, Patricia, of North Park boulevard were entertained at dinner last evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Jessup.

Mrs. Jessup plans to leave tomorrow for Massachusetts to attend graduation exercises at Rogers hall, where her daughter, Barbara, and the Emisons' daughter, Mary Elizabeth, are candidates for graduation. Mary Elizabeth is expected home in Santa Ana by June 10. In the autumn she will go to Indiana to attend De Pau university, where her parents received their higher education.

CHICKEN DINNER ENJOYED BY CLUB MEMBERS

Miss Edna May Heim was hostess to her bridge club at a delicious chicken dinner last night in the Dixie Castle.

After dinner bridge awards went to Mrs. Cleora Fine, Mrs. Russell Daley and Miss Grace Anderson.

Other guests were Mesdames Robert Lufbery, Kenneth Hill, Thomas Pangie, Joseph May, Frances Lacy and Misses Margaret Overton, and Helen and Kathryn Overton.

Fete Mothers At Edison Program

With an audience of approximately 65 mothers, daughters, sons and guests, members of the Edison Women's committee last night presented their annual program in observance of Mothers' day, at the Santa Ana Edison company offices. Miss Elizabeth Miller served as mistress of ceremonies, introducing participants in the program.

Mrs. Sam Adams, committee president, conducted a brief business session preceding the entertainment. Miss Miller was assisted in planning the affair by Mesdames Constance Baird and Cora McGuire, and Miss Amber Andersgaard.

Fancy nosegays were presented to each mother attending. Refreshments were served from an attractive table centered with candles and carnations.

Charlene Ann Shores tap danced, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Baird welcomed mothers present; Mary Ann Baird, piano solo; Everett Claypool, accordion solo; and a "March of Time" skit, representing difficulties of housekeeping two generations ago, compared with the ease permitted by modern equipment.

Miss Miller introduced company supervisors and employees, including R. E. Bacon, D. M. Terhune, A. C. Ecklund, H. E. Welsh, A. W. Frost, W. P. Champion, J. F. Reever, W. S. Houseworth, and R. W. Shafer.

Mary Stoddard Can 'Good Friend' Type of Girl Win Boy From Girl Who Uses Him as 'Doormat'?

"Often a pal but never a sweetheart" is as true of some girls as is the saying about repeating bridesmaids. But "Margaret," Santa Ana girl who is in love with a human "doormat," thinks being a good friend to the boy may win him from a girl who picked him up after her fiancé broke their engagement. Dear Miss Stoddard: I have been reading your column lately and have seen how you have helped so many readers that I would like you to give me some advice.

I am very fond of a fine boy, but he is rather a puzzle to me. He comes down often and takes me many places and acts very nice to me, and I'm sure he does love me, but he claims that he is in love with another girl. This girl wouldn't go with him and was going to be married to a boy back east about a month ago. Something went wrong and he broke the engagement. Then she came running back to him and he's making a "doormat" of himself ever since for her. I know he really doesn't mean much of anything to her. Still, he couldn't really be in love with her, or he wouldn't act to me as he does. Just can't help but like him because he is such a nice boy. Isn't there some way I might be able to win him?

Sincerely, MARGARET.

He obviously needs your sympathy, or he would not seek your company. If you have nothing better to do with your time, at least let him know that you think he is, and that you don't intend to be treated as the other girl is treating him. That should help him to decide.

NAME OFFICERS, SEE PLAY BY SANTA ANAN
Mrs. C. E. Price was nominated to succeed herself as president of the Woman's Missionary society of the First Christian church, at regular meeting of the group last week. Nominated with Mrs. Price were Mrs. C. F. Skirvin, first vice president; Mrs. James O'Brien, second vice president; Mrs. J. Williams, secretary, and Mrs. W. B. Williams, treasurer.

Mrs. L. A. Hill, program chairman for the day, spoke on Paraguay. The Woman's Missionary and Ladies Aid societies met for a joint quilting session in the forenoon, ate a pot-luck lunch planned by Mrs. T. D. Knights and convened for an afternoon program following business sessions.

"Inasmuch," a three-act play written by Mrs. E. A. Bell, was enacted under direction of Mrs. E. L. Morris and Mrs. W. A. Atkinson. Those taking part were members of the First Baptist church, the Mesdames Fannie Reeves, G. E. Lippencott, E. W. Farmer, R. C. Crouse, C. A. Harp, E. C. Glenn, O. P. Jones, L. R. Stearnes, E. W. Ashland, Leah Elliott, Vivian Nichols, J. F. B. Richards, L. E. Coffman, J. A. Newcomer, and three children, Jeannette, Lois Ann Jones and James Leslie Stephenson, Jr.

Between the acts, Mesdames Herbert Nick, G. W. Bassell and Charles Nalle played and sang. Mrs. J. R. Farwell served as property chairman.

MRS. M. B. BROOKS SHOWS ETCHING PROCESSES

Etching permits a finer type of artistry than oil painting. Mrs. Marian Bryant Brooks, Pasadena artist, told an interested audience of approximately 70 women and girls last night in the Y. W. C. A. rooms. Because of this, many master painters have turned to etching. Rembrandt being the most noted artist in oils to use the medium of etching, she said.

An artist of note in both mediums, Mrs. Brooks addressed members of Wrycende Maegden, Tri-Y girls and their guests last evening following dinner meeting of the young business women's group, at which she and Miss Doris Robbins, Pasadena, were guests.

Setting up her small press on the stage of the Y. W. lounge, Mrs. Brooks prepared a plate, inked and printed a finished plate, and permitted her audience to examine the finished print and others to note differences she had described between etchings, dry-point and aqua-tint prints.

Most recent of her exhibits was one of 50 prints, hung in the Smithsonian Institute, Washington, D. C. She has received awards for etchings and other art work exhibited in New York, Chicago and California.

TUESDAY CLUB HAS LUNCHEON IN HOME OF MRS. COFFING
The lovely home of Mrs. L. D. Coffing on North Park boulevard was the scene of an early summer luncheon when Mrs. Coffing entertained her Tuesday bridge club yesterday.

Graceful white, pink and scarlet Shirley poppies were in a pewter bowl on the luncheon table. The afternoon was spent pleasantly in contract play.

Mrs. Lawrence Bemis and Mrs. L. A. Chenoweth substituted for Mrs. Horace Stevens and Mrs. Harry Matthews. Others present were Mesdames Dexter Ball, John Ball, J. A. George, Fred Forgy, R. A. Emison, J. B. Jovenat, Hugh J. Low, Rex Kennedy, Herbert L. Miller and Harvey Smith.

LITTLE GIRL HAS QUIET PARTY

Little Miss Eleanor Skirvin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Skirvin, 1625 Spurgeon street, Monday had what will probably prove to be her quietest birthday party.

Eleanor is just convalescing from tonsillitis, so her party was confined to members of her family, and there was no romping at all. She is 6 years old.

PAST LEADERS ENTERTAINED IN TUSTIN

Past presidents of the Santa Ana Valley Ebell society were entertained yesterday at a delightful luncheon in the home of Mrs. M. Nealley at Tustin with Mrs. S. W. Stanley sharing hostess honors. The affair was one of three at which the past leaders assemble in an intimate little club each year.

Mrs. Terry Stephenson had sent a lovely mixed flower bouquet for the occasion, and tall pink and purple spikes of larkspur centered the luncheon table. Mrs. R. G. Tuthill conducted a business session in which the clubwomen decided to make another appliqued quilt in the summer.

Others attending the meeting were Mesdames Victor Montgomery, A. F. Cruickshank, Sam W. Nau, C. F. Crose, John Clarkson, Terry Stephenson, Paul Bailey and C. V. Davis.

STATE MEET PLANS MADE BY GROUP

Plans for the approaching state convention of Delta Chi Sigma sorority slated for this week-end in Santa Ana and Laguna Beach were outlined at Monday evening's meeting of Alpha Epsilon chapter in the home of Mrs. Julien Lecrain on Talbert road.

Registration will be 4 o'clock. Delegations from Long Beach and San Diego are to be present. A 6:30 o'clock dinner, business and a 9 o'clock dance are slated at the clubhouse.

Delegates will be entertained in homes of members of the hostess chapter. A morning business session and a 1 o'clock luncheon in the Hotel Laguna dining room will conclude the convention. August will bring the next convention at San Diego.

COMUS CLUB TO HAVE PARTY MAY 21 IN LEGION HALL

Comus club members will dance together at an informal dancing party Thursday evening, May 21, in the Orange American Legion clubhouse.

Hosts for the evening, when guest couples will be admitted for the usual charge, are Messrs. and Mesdames Harold Yost, Harold Segerstrom, Walter Hill and Lester Tubbs. Dancing will begin at 9:30 o'clock.

A pet pigeon owned by Nick Koob of Bellevue, Ia., naps daily on the back of the house cat.

It's the Talk of the Quilting Bee

PATTERN 5591

It's most certainly the talk of the quilting bee—this quaint Pineapple pattern! And why wouldn't it be? With nearly all the patch pieces the same width, you can cut your fabric into strips and snip off pieces as needed. Easily made, you start from the center and sew round and round till the block is done.

In pattern 5591 you will find the Block Chart, an illustration, for cutting, sewing and finishing, together with yardage chart, diagram of quilt to help arrange the blocks for single and double bed size, and a diagram of block which serves as a guide for placing the patches and suggests contrasting materials.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Journal, Household Arts Dept., 117 East Fifth Street, Santa Ana, Calif. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS and PATTERN NUMBER.

BUCK ROGERS, 25th CENTURY A. D.

SPACE PATROL SHIP 744 ROARED AWAY FROM URANUS AND HEADED EARTHWARD—WITH ALL ON BOARD—THOUGH SEVERAL OF US WERE UNCONSCIOUS—SUDDENLY HUER BURST INTO HOLT'S CABIN.

LIQUID LIGHT! A NEW FORM OF MATTER! WHERE'S BUCK? WHERE'S WILMA?

CALM YOURSELF, DOCTOR! THEY'RE QUITE ALL RIGHT! BUT—AH—THERE WAS A LITTLE RUMPUSS ON THE DOCK!

KANE AND BLANKA? THERE'S SOMETHING FUNNY ABOUT THIS, HOLT! YOU KNOW HOW MUCH ALIKE BLANKA AND ARDALA ARE—IF ONE WERE POSING AS THE OTHER—

SUPPOSE WE GO UP TO ARDALA'S CABIN—AND SEE IF SHE'S LOCKED IN SAFELY.

SHE'S MOANING—AND SOBBING IN THERE! SH-H-H-H—

ARDALA? SOBBING? NO—SHE'S NOT! SHE'S MORE LIKE HER TO BE RAVING AND YELLING! HEH—OPEN THE DOOR!

'Even Though You Slay Me—'

"EVEN though you slay me yet will I love you." This quotation, or one very much like it, is sometimes used in reference to the supreme love of man for his Maker. It expresses the highest in divine adoration.

How rarely do we find love so deep in one human for another. And yet it apparently existed in the heart of pretty little 17-year-old Jovita Valenzuela, brutally beaten to death by her husband in a ditch near the city's suburbs.

Dying after he had rained three crushing blows upon her head with an automobile jack, Jovita gasped out forgiveness to her mate and told him to fly before the police found him. In his own words at the inquest:

"I went down and talked to her. She wasn't dead yet. She told me to get away, to run away quick before they caught me."

The dying girl did not curse her killer. She did not ask him to go for a doctor. She thought only of him—of forgiveness, of his safety. "Even though you slay me yet will I love you."

How rare that love. And how brutally and cruelly repaid!

Five hundred Ebell club women say a big state prison would be bad for Orange county. The intuitions of women are usually right.

No One Will Suffer

A MID bad news from all over the country about relief funds running low, it's cheering to hear from Supervisor W. C. Jerome and County Welfare Director Byron Curry that the Orange county situation looks bright.

There are really just two major questions confronting California counties in the relief fund problem. The first is: Can the counties stand the expense if the state load is dumped on them? And second: Can the counties legally help people who have not lived within their bounds for the three years stipulated by law?

Regarding the expense angle, those two officials mentioned above point out that Orange county welfare work can stand any kind of relief program the state imposes until at least July 1.

And as for the three-year restriction, Director Curry states that neither the supervisors, taxpayers nor his department are going to allow anyone to suffer.

That's good news from start to finish.

A veteran prospector has gone to the interior of Alaska to get away for four years. Why doesn't he just get himself elected vice president?

Landon on Liquor

EASE in forestalling attack is the art of a successful campaigner. That art appears in effective form in the Kaltenborn interview with Governor Landon.

In answer to a question about his dry record, the Kansas presidential prospect gives this shock-proof reply: "The people," he said, "rendered an overwhelming verdict that the question should be returned to the various states for such decision as their citizenry wished. I accept that verdict and I believe that it is up to each state to determine its own policy on liquor, subject, of course, to Section 2 of the Twenty-first amendment under which shipment into dry states are properly forbidden."

That's clear, concise, should tend to dissipate the fears of the wets who were almost certain to attack the Kansan on the strength of his W. C. T. U. "battle cry" speech last fall.

There's no truth in the rumor that Harry (WPA) Hopkins is planning a project to repaint the Grand Canyon.

Clean-Up and Lock-Up Week

NATIONAL Clean-Up and Lock-Up Week for Public Enemies has just struck a successful finish, thanks to the effective work of G-Chief Hoover and his capable aides. Kidnaped Robinson, last of the big shot gangsters on the federal black list, now awaits justice for his misdeeds in Louisville, Ky.

Within the past seven days, federal policemen have snapped steel wristlets on Robinson, Alvin Karpis, Harry Campbell, and William Mahan—all of them rated as tops among Public Enemies.

Mahan has been sentenced to 60 years imprisonment. Here's hoping that the courts are just as rough—if not rougher—on the other three criminals.

Another use for that old straw hat is as a handy container for used safety razor blades.

Good Journalism

AMERICAN newspapers as a group would command more respect if they were all operated in accordance with a provision in the will of C. K. McClatchy, late publisher of the Sacramento Bee and sister dailies in Fresno and Modesto.

A codicil to the McClatchy will reads as follows:

"My last injunction to those who, after my passing, will be in charge of the policies of the McClatchy newspapers is to ally themselves with no political party, to be fair to all, to decide questions by the light of principle, never under the slavery of petty or partisan politics."

Maybe the L. A. chamber can persuade the Dionnes and Kaspers to move to California to offset the drop in population.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

O. O. McIntyre

Marilyn Miller belonged to a sizable army of theatrical folk who boast they do not want to live beyond the age of 40.

To most of them, especially juveniles and portrayers of dashing singing roles, 40 is believed the box office deadline. Miss Miller passed on at 35. If they continue in professional work after that they begin to retrograde. Or so it is believed. No matter that statistics are against it the horror of 40 cannot be erased. It's almost proverbial that any actor or actress if still engaged with never admit more than 39.

Even John Drew refused to hurdle 50. Two of the popular women stars of the day insist they are in their late 20's although past 40. The evasion is not altogether one of vanity. It is a groundless fear of losing a means of livelihood. An absurdity that is incurable.

The indisputable fact is the biggest money makers on the stage, screen and radio are past 40. And it's a matter of record that artists past that age have greater durability and do not swish out like a light as do those of less mature years.

Incidentally, it has been heartening to theatrical folk in the throes of ill fortune to watch the gallant effort at come-back of Bertha Kalich, for 30 years an outstanding tragedienne of the American and Yiddish stage. Mme. Kalich is now almost totally blind from cataracts and through the expense of many surgical operations impoverished. But she wants to carry on. Her first step was a testimonial benefit at which she, appropriately enough, gave an exquisite interpretation of the last poignant moments of the poet, Heinrich Heine.

Never in sartorial history have shirt patterns so run amok as this season. Designs that would have been fantastic for old fashioned minstrelsy are now just ordinary styles. There are shirts of dark crimson, blood red, wet grass green, Prussian blue and horse blanket checks—all with collars to match. As a result almost every block on Broadway has a new and flashy chemise whose window displays suggest a mad scramble of the spectrum.

Among New York's loudest shirtless are: Roy Holman, Louis Beebe, Phil Plant, Harry Silvey, Jules Glaesner, Arthur Willem, Donald, Bert Thompson, Courtney Burr, Peppy DeAlbrow and Rudy Vallee. Barney Oldfield, now a dramatic editor in Lincoln, Neb., however, is said to be the loudest of all in his shirtless. They shriek.

There's always fascination in the Billboards ads. In a recent issue I noticed these offerings: Momo, gramophone living ball turtles; false teeth fitted by mail—60 days free trial; 10 cent fur tails to hang on a friend's trouser seat; the hoo-doo stick—What makes it spin? incense, an incense in cigarette form, four ties in one and Valentino varnish for "matinee idol hair."

German phobias are far more pronounced in massed centers like London and New York. In one of the Manhattan hotels lives a rich, prematurely white haired widow who always puts on an antiseptic gauze face covering when employees come into her room. Harold Dearden, the Harley street specialist, who dropped medicine for authorship, told Dean Cornwell of a famous artist who would never touch a door knob. He not only wore gloves but used pads of sterilized tissue, with which he would line the palms and after turning the knob drop the tissue and complete opening and closing the door with his boot. Frank Brangwyn, known from China to Rockefeller Center for his murals and etchings, became practically a recluse as the result of his phobia. He would never go to the theater, movies or a public restaurant because of germs in the air. And would eat no food cooked outside his highly sterilized kitchen.

There is talk that Alexander Woolcott is to become another restless wanderer to all parts of the world in the manner of Somerset Maugham. His book royalties now assure an income sufficient for such hiegras and he has already made some extensive journeys to the Gobi and such outer fringes. And magazine editors would leap at the chance to print any travel reflections he might care to write.

Fame: "I'm the guy," telegraphs C. H. A., "who were the first pad-dock overcoat in our town without a single query. Where's the whip?"

Remarkable Remarks

Only by erecting the lightning rod of liberalism can we guard against the four horsemen of communism, socialism, fascism and dictatorship now riding under the black clouds that are sweeping Europe.—Gov. George H. Earle, Pennsylvania.

MRS. RUMPEL'S ROOMING HOUSE
"She must have added water to it last night. It don't taste as good as it did yesterday."

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The tiny Republic of Santo Domingo would seem a long way from the post toasts which brought fame and fortune to Mrs. Marjorie Post Hutton, but the two have been very close recently.

In fact Santa Domingo has enabled Mrs. Hutton's new husband, Joe Davis, to support her in the style to which she is accustomed—at least for the time being.

Davis is the adviser of President Trujillo, dictator of the republic. Also important, Davis is an old friend of President Roosevelt, knew him when the latter was assistant naval secretary and Davis was a member of the federal trade commission.

Some time ago, President Trujillo wanted to extend the suspension of payments on Dominican bonds held by U. S. citizens. Since the bonds are guaranteed by Dominican customs and since Roosevelt appoints the collector of customs, Joe Davis went to his old friend in the White House.

The bond payments were suspended. Joe's fee in payment was the neat sum of $450,000.

About this time he and his first wife were divorced and he married Mrs. Hutton with whom he went on a honeymoon trip on her million dollar yacht, built in Germany. En route they anchored off Santo Domingo.

President Trujillo came aboard, inspected the vessel, said that he thought he would buy one too. Note: A relative of Trujillo's by marriage, Luis de Lanfrente, has been indicted by a New York grand jury for the murder of Sergio Benscombe, a Dominican exile from Trujillo's wrath. Lanfrente returned to Santo Domingo after the indictment, and although lacking military training, immediately was made a lieutenant in the army.

Print dresses of unique design seem to be the fad among Washington society leaders. Mrs. Roosevelt has come out with a print dress featuring the letter "PAX," while the conservative Mrs. Robert Ingham has blossomed forth in a brown and white print featuring the merry-go-round.

NEW SENATE POET
Senator Metcalf, shy millionaire senator from Rhode Island, has become something of a poet, is contributing poetry to the Sheboygan (Wis.) Weekly, advertised by its juvenile editor as "The World's Smallest Newspaper."

Here is one of the senator's contributions:

America 1936
"My country, 'tis of thee,
Land of lost liberty,
F. D. I sing!
Land where my pigs have died,
Land where professors tried,

The editor comments: "The editor wants to thank Senator Metcalf very much for sending in this nice poem. If any other senators have any nice poems, please send them in."

RUST BROTHERS
The Rust brothers, inventors of the cotton picking machine which threatens to revolutionize the South, have been urged to incorporate their new company under an act of congress. The incorporation would state that whereas this new machine may throw several thousand people out of work; whereas it must be developed for the best interests of the country; therefore it shall be leased only to cotton producers who make proper restitution to their workers in hours and wages for the savings accomplished by this machine.

F. D. R. ORGY
When President Roosevelt dedicated the new interior department building, he laid the cornerstone with a trowel used by George Washington. This, he said in his speech, was "a good augury."

However, when a transcript of the ceremony was sent to Representative Maury Maverick for insertion in the Congressional Record he noticed that the word "augury" had undergone a transformation. In the manuscript it read "a good orgy."

The Texan first corrected it, then wrote the President a stern note of reprimand, chiding him for his laxity of speech.

"This carelessness," he said, "might easily have precipitated a Roman holiday of derision from Republican jeerers."

The next day Maverick received a reply from the White House. "I don't see why you changed it, Maury," the President wrote. "I think the speech was much better uncorrected. After all, people would be much more interested in an orgy than in an augury. However, I suppose you know best."

Note: When Secretary Ickes' attention was called to the misprint he telephoned Maverick and complained: "Doggone it, Maury! This was the first chance I ever had to take part in an orgy and now you've spoiled it."

MERRY-GO-ROUND
The workers who burn night lights in the LaSalle building these days are not the NRA staff once housed there, but clerks of Veterans administration, turning out bonus payments.

Department of commerce finds Mexican business is picking up, especially in chewing gum. Baiting the red-baiters, Maury Maverick of Texas says that since red in itself is a sin, we can have no more red flannels, red traffic lights, red ink, red tape, red herrings, or even red carnations in the lapel of Congressman Sirovich of New York.

Barber Bert Braden, who has been cutting the locks of congressmen for 25 years, says, "I've been taking care of the speaker all session (Joe Byrns of Tennessee) but he don't have as fine a head to cut as that old fellow from Illinois" (late Speaker Henry T. Rainey). Migrating waterfowl have found a new landing field in Tennessee. Moving north this year, they broke their flight where only dry land had been before—TVA's new lake formed by Norris dam.

KEARNEY-RULE FIGHT

To the Editor: I have been very much interested in your articles, "County Landmarks." You refer to the episode which took place between Dennis Kearney and Tom Rule back in the '70's and you mention the fact that it took place on the present site of the Rossmore hotel. This is an error as the old Layman hotel stood on the corner of Fourth and Main where the Otis building now stands. This hotel was moved to a triangular lot formed by Fruit and Sixth streets to make room for the First National bank building and later acquired by William E. Otis.

At the time Kearney and Rule had their mixup, Jim Hickey's lively stable stood on the corner of Fourth and Sycamore streets. This stable was moved to the southeast corner of Fifth and Sycamore streets when the Brunswick hotel was built.

The platform from which Kearney spoke was erected on the east or Main street side of the Layman hotel and extended across the sidewalk. I happened to be present in the afternoon and heard Kearney when he abused McFadden brothers, W. H. Spurgeon, James Fruit, Judge Humphrey and a few more of the prominent citizens of Santa Ana. I saw Robert McFadden attempt to go up on the platform to get at Kearney and it took several people to hold Mr. McFadden. In the evening Kearney repeated his speech and it was then that Rule attacked him. Kearney ran across Fourth street and into McFadden's drug store located on the south side of Fourth street halfway between Main and Sycamore streets. It was in this drugstore that Rule caught him and beat him most unmercifully. I was not present at the time of the fight but was there shortly afterwards and saw the large pool of blood on the floor. From this point Kearney ran a block further east to the Lewis and Dibble drugstore where a doctor patched him up. He then took the stage for San Diego, Santa Ana. ED STAFFORD.

DEPORTATION OF ALIENS

To the Editor: In the endeavor to hold America racially pure, immigration restrictions in congress attached an exclusion rider to the Philippine Independence bill. Congress understood that the constant race friction on the Pacific coast arose because of Filipino fondness for moron white girls. After Filipino exclusion became law, congress offered Filipinos free return transportation to Manila. In one western state with a considerable Filipino population, it is said the only application thereunder came from a Filipino penitentiary inmate.

Few Americans grasp that admissibility to the United States equals the inheritance of a fortune. During the immigration study commission's field work in Anatolia, it was common talk there that the difference in wages between Turkey and the United States equalled a legacy of $20,000.

With our heavy costs for relief, is it not time that we commence deporting at least every alien on relief? This is being done in every other country in the world but ours.—C. M. Goethe, Sacramento.

SCIENCE NEWS

The professional typist has always found the greatest difficulty in making neat typewritten entries along the bottom margins of file cards. Now an inventor comes forth with the introduction of a flexible guide which holds a card steady and keeps it from slipping. When the gadget is rolled into the carriage it provides a receptacle for the card, and the typing is done through a slot in its surface.

War Never Settles Anything; It Unsettles Many Things

LIKE a lion roaring over a quivering prey, Mussolini shouts defiance at a trembling world. Ethiopia is his, all of it, and he will defend his spoils with the same audacity with which he seized them. Not one inch will he yield, and he denies the right of other nations to question his actions. His very tone implies something of doubt, like the small boy whistling in the dark to bolster his sagging courage.

The League of Nations can not agree with him without completely stultifying itself. Sanctions against Italy are still in force. Some nations have agreed not to recognize the brutal seizure of a league member. The United States, if it follows precedent, will likewise refuse to recognize a territorial government established by force. This was our policy in Manchuria. Britain can not accept Italy's appeal to war, with any good grace. Mussolini is not likely to forget the hostile attitude of Britain and France toward him in his African enterprise.

All of which means, of course, that the Ethiopian war is not settled at all. Aside from what the natives may do, and they can be a decided nuisance to their Italian rulers, there is the larger question of what other nations will do. As

A midwesterner wants to know how long you have to be in Southern California to tell when it's going to rain. I can answer that question by telling him that I've not been able to find out anyone who can tell me. When it's a high fog you think it's going to rain, and when it's a low fog it don't. When the weather predictions are for rain, you got a much better chance of getting rain if the prediction is for no rain. Even some of the native sons have, in confidential interludes, admitted to me that there is no infallible rule to follow, but to just wait and thank God when the rain does come.

Here's one for the files: Did you see Bill Jerome writing a note to Kenny Adams with a pen that J. Frank Burke gave to Terry Stephenson?

There seems to be some life in the old town yet. Service clubs are appointing committees to work with other organizations in preparing for a celebration commemorative of the incorporation of Santa Ana. To permit this golden event to pass by without proper acknowledgment would be like letting all of the precious metal seep through the crucible of community pride. Lot of us won't be here for the one-hundredth anniversary, and still a lot more who helped build the town to its present proportions and influence won't be here to observe the fruits of their labors. So let's have a rousing and suitable celebration while many of the inhabitants can get a thrill out of it.

Milan Miller and Guy Gilbert drove to Laguna Beach yesterday to gather up Ted Cook and present him to the Santa Ana Rotary club, where the author of "Cook's Coo's," syndicated, elucidated to the Rotarians the method of preparing copy, divers incidents, and involvement of characters, which have become as famous as Amos 'n' Andy's "Kingfish." The Hon. Ben Hefflinger returned Cook to the mild zephyrs, and the foursome lived happily all the remainder of the afternoon.

Here's a story about dishonesty. This is a temptation to put a "slug" in a peanut slot machine. It works you think you got your peanuts for nothing. The most expensive thing you get is what is obtained through fraud. If the "slug" sticks and the machine fails to operate you tried to break through and steal, and that leaves an uneasy feeling. If the machine jams there is no peanuts. But the fellow who follows you and is willing to pay for what he gets, puts in a penny, you are the cause of his loss and his disappointment. In the game of life it pays to play it square. The fellow who tries to get by on a crooked deal is caught sooner or later, and the going-straight after such an incident is always rougher. Peanuts obtained through deception are not worth it—and the rule will hold good if it's a forgery or a bank robbery.

Business may be a trifle slack now. It may be a long before there is an improvement as the orange pickers are at work filling boxes which the truck men are hauling to the packing house where they, the oranges, are being prepared for shipment and sold to eastern markets. That's when the week begins to get money from the east.

Automobile tourist relates incident about running into a swarm of bees. They covered the windshield so completely that visibility was nil and safety obtained only by stopping the car. Wonder if that swarm of bees was just hitchhiking, or lost their way? I wouldn't mind picking up a few queens, but when they come in bunches the risk is entirely too great. Not long ago a local service station operator had a swarm rest on one of his pumps, and business was suspended until a fellow who knew more about bees than he did called and captured the whole swarm.

John Rabe comes in with some information. Says I ought to have it. Says more than that—mention should appear in this column. Somehow or other these fellows from Junior High are irresistible. I haven't been able to refuse them. I'm not afraid of all of 'em assembled, but in order to avoid a conflict I want to say for them that the Santa Ana Junior college will present its ninth annual Fiesta play May 15 and 16 at the Willard auditorium. If you are there in time you can see the curtain go up at 8:15. Arthur Coleman and Agnes Brady are the principals, same as in last year's "Smilin' Through." I know Agnes, and she's been smilin' ever since. Lest we forget this is the fifteenth play for Ernest Crozier Phillips, and the ninth Fiesta production he has directed. Saturday night the play is open to the general public and Friday is reserved for high school seniors and visiting guests. Now, I hope that all I'm expected to do. The rest of the responsibility is up to you.
